LINCOLN BOY DIES IN SALT CREEK

Youthful University Of Oklahoma Queen Found Dead

JOHN BENKERT FALLS IN WATER WHILE FISHING

Lad Believed to Have Suffered Attack of Illness and Stumbled, Face Down, Into Shallow Water Near Bank of Creek at West A Street—Revival Efforts Futile.

Johnny Benkert, 15, of 123 West F street, was found dead early Wednesday afternoon in the shallow water of Salt creek near West A street, apparently after suffering an attack of illness and falling, face first, into the creek while fishing. Attempts to revive the boy were unavailing.

Although surface appearances indicated the boy drowned, Dr. Robert Underwood said that there was little water in the lungs and he could not say for sure whether the lad died by drowning or from natural causes. Dr. Underwood pronounced the boy dead at 2:26 o'clock, after making numerous tests to determine if there was any life left in the body to warrant continued artificial respiration efforts.

The body was found by Henry Smith, 518 West B street, at about 1:40 o'clock. The boy's feet were on the bank, and the body extended out into the water, the face down, sunk in mud, just a few inches beneath the surface of the water.

Smith said he had seen the boy fishing on the bank at about 10 o'clock this morning. The spot is about 150 feet from Smith's home.

Apparently no one saw the lad fall into the water. Friends of young Benkert, however, said that he was subject to attacks of illness and may have been overcome before sliding into the creek.

The youth was recognized by Raymond Decker, 500 A street, and Alfred Stroh, 540 B street, as Benkert.

A fishing pole was on the bank and a second line in the water.

Try Revive Boy.

The body was pulled out by John Turner, 1826 F street, and Fireman Henry Brehm of station No. 3. Artificial respiration was begun at once by Turner, Brehm, Eddie Wilson, filling station operator, Fire Capt. A. A. Barney, Assistant Chief Val Blockwitz, and Fireman J. G. Smith of station No. 3, and police.

Dr. Robert Underwood, city physician, was called and administered a stimulant, which failed to efect any results. Assistant Fire Chief Francis Donnelly, of station No. 1, arrived at the scene with an inhalator and the device was pressed into service.

Positive identification of the youth was made by a relative, Mrs. Frank Smith, 1035 A street. The last person to see Benkert before he was found in the creek, was his great aunt, Mrs. Sophia Smith, 518 West B street, mother of Henry Smith who found the body. She said that Johnnie had come to her house about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning for a drink of water.

Members of the youth's family include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Benkert; two sisters, Helen and Mabel, and a brother, Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Benkert, parents of the youth, arrived at the creek as the body was being lifted to a stretcher for removal to an undertaking establishment. Mrs. Benkert was prostrated and was taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith.

Mrs. Benkert was working at the Strauch Candy company, 729 O street, when called to the scene. Mr. Benkert, who is unemployed, was at home.

$150,000 SLASH IN ASSESSMENTS ON FRANCHISES

Hearing Set On July 18 For Complaints On Tentative Values.

An indicated reduction of about $150,000 in the aggregate franchise tax assessment of public utility corporations, large and small, doing business in Nebraska, below the figures at which they were assessed a year ago, is revealed in the tentative valuations for these companies as fixed by the state board of equalization.

The total appraisal for franchise levy placed upon this class of corporations, as given out Wednesday by State Tax Commissioner Smith, secretary of the board, is $4,415,050, compared with $4,562,450 in 1933. This includes an estimate of $9,700 for 16 small concerns that have not yet reported—the same as their collective assessment last year—and is after deducting $1,550 for eight other minor companies which have been dropped from the list.

Subject To Change.

Valuations thus fixed are not final but will be subject to possible change by the board after a hearing set for next Wednesday, July 18, at 10 a. m., at which any corporation affected may present objections are looked for, however, and tions to its assessment. Few pro- in the main the figures will stand as they now are.

Most of the gross reduction made by the state board in its preliminary valuations is represented by cuts of $50,000 each granted to the Iowa-Nebraska Power Co. of Lincoln and the Nebraska Power Co. of Omaha. The former is lowered from $750,000 to $700,000, and the

Lincoln Prices Up

The Lincoln cash grain market followed Chicago quotations for a 5 cent increase on wheat and a 4 cent jump for corn. No. 2 hard wheat was being bought here Wednesday at 80 cents, and No. 2 white corn at 53 cents.

NEW YORK MAN IS PAID $25,000 BY GERMAN FIRM

Lee Says He Gives Advice On Improving Relations With America.

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—German industry pays Ivy L. Lee, New York public relations counsellor, an annual salary of $25,000 for advice on improving German-American relations, the congressional sub-committee on un-American activities revealed today.

Lee pays his son, James $33,000 a year as his contact man in Germany. The elder Lee is at present in Europe.

Disclosing the gist of a deposition previously taken from Lee, who as publicity man for the Standard Oil Co. of New York has "humanized" John D. Rockefeller, the committee said that Lee is paid by the I. G. Chemical Co. of Germany

Regarding his advisory position with the Chemical company, Lee's deposition said:

"I was employed solely in an advisory capacity to inform them as to the reactions of Americans to activities in Germany. I never gave out any statement under my name, nor did I distribute any propaagnda."

In his deposition, the committee stated, Lee testified that he had conferred with high German officials, including Hitler, concerning German-American relations.

Seventeen 100 Degree Days Here In Period Since May 1 Sets New Mark

In the hottest summer since weather records have been kept in Lincoln, the mercury has crawled to the 100 or above degree mark 17 times, including Wednesday, since May 1 and to or above the 95 degree mark 29 times. This record is approached only by the summer of 1911, when the temperature was above 100 degrees 12 times in the same period and above the 95 degree mark 21 times.

This unprecedented heat wave made May the hottest May in the history of the city with an average temperature of 71.9 degrees, which is 10.2 degrees above normal for that month. May, 1918, was the second hottest May with an average temperature of 68 degrees.

107 Season Mark.

June was the second hottest June in history with an average temperature of 79.8 degrees which was surpassed by an average temperature of 80.4 degrees in 1933.

July 4 was the hottest day since May 1 and the temperature reached 107 degrees on that date. The all-time heat record of 110 degrees was set on July 5, 1911.

The mercury stood at or above 100 degrees on the following dates:

May 29, 102; May 30, 104; May 31, 103; June 5, 100; June 7, 100; June 8, 100; June 23, 104; June 24, 103; June 26, 103; June 27, 104; June 28, 103; July 2, 102; July 3, 102; July 4, 107, July 8, 101; and July 9, 102.

In addition to the 100 degree days, the mercury was 95 or higher on May 6, when it reached 95; May 7, 96; May 19, 95; June 1, 95; June 2, 95; June 6, 99; June 13, 95; June 19, 98; June 25, 98; June 30, 95; July 1, 98; and July 10, 98.

Past 90 On 37 Days.

Thirty-eight times the mercury has passed the 90 degree mark since May 1, while in 1911, the second hottest summer, it passed 90 degrees only 31 times.

No period this year has yet equalled the sensationally hot 20 days in July, 1911, when the mercury dipped below 100 only once from July 8 until July 28.

GRAIN PRICES SKYROCKET TO PEAK LIMITS

Spectacular Wave Of Buying Greets Government's Crop Report.

SMALLEST YIELD IN 33 YEARS SEEN

Closing Quotations Are At Ceiling; Pits Become Bedlam.

CHICAGO, July 11 — (AP) — A spectacular wave of buying, greeting the government's unexpected forecast of the smallest United States grain crop in 33 years, swept the La Salle street trading pits today, whipping prices for wheat and corn up 5 and 4 cents, respectively, the allowable limits under trading rules

Wheat and corn prices were pushed to peak limits permitted as soon as the opening gong sounded and the pits became a bedlam as brokers sought to execute the flood of buying orders. There were a few reactions as holders realized profits, but at the close quotations were at the ceiling and trading was virtually at a standstill, all offerings having been absorbed. Brokers sat in the pits waiting to snap up selling offers.

Every grain on the board was forced up to the permissable limits before the close. September wheat closed at 93⅝, corn at 62, oats 45⅞, up 3 cents from yesterday's finish, rye at 70½, up 5 cents, and barley at 56⅝, almost a 5 cents gain.

Market Deluged.

Midwest reaction to the startling government forecast, one of amazement and skepticism at first, was mirrored in the excited grain pits. Buying orders deluged the market as speculative interests, quiet for almost a month, unleashed a demand to acquire contracts for future delivery.

Grain authorities received the forecast indicating the aggregate of the five leading crops will fall 450,000,000 bushels short of last year's production with enthusiasm. One, B. W. Snow, said, "It is probably the most sensational report ever made since crop reporting was instituted." It shows, Snow said, wheat has not improved since the corn has gone backward instead of private report.. were issued and forward since the rains came.

"There has been no general breaking of the drouth in the driest territory, only surface moisture," Snow said.

July wheat rose to a top of 92⅞ cents a bushel, about 13 cents below the year's peak established a month ago while the drouth was at its worst.

Private crop authorities had been predicting a drastically reduced production total, but their estimates made a week ago were conservative compared with the government's forecast.

Today's sudden spurt in prices followed a month during which values settled from the peaks established early in June despite mounting evidence of a nation wide crop damage.

National Junior Chamber Secretary Visits Here

S. C. Humason of St. Paul, Minn., recently named executive secretary of the United States junior chamber of commerce, stopped off in Lincoln Wednesday enroute to Los Angeles. He was a guest of several members of the local junior chamber at luncheon. He is on his way to California to assume his new duties.

YOUTH CLAIMS BOUND, BEATEN

Found Tied Up On Highway In Northeastern Nebraska.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 11 — (AP) Picked up by three men, said to have been intoxicated, Sam Douglas, 19-year-old boy from Kansas City, was bound around his hands and feet by fish cord beaten with a leather strap and left on a highway northeast of Norfolk Tuesday. He was found by Raymond Bossard, a farmer in that vicinity, not seriously injured.

Douglas later told Deputy Sheriff Giissman and Officer Allen of the Norfolk police force, that—he was picked up by the three men, traveling in a car bearing South Dakota license plates, north of Norfolk.

After driving him to Hadar the men, Douglas said, took him east from there and then lashed him with the leather strap after tying his feet and hands. The fish cord tied around his hands was also tied around his neck, and Douglas said for a time he feared he was going to choke to death.

It was about noon that Douglas was abandoned on the highway. He was forced to remain in a sitting position in the sun, with his hands tied behind his head for about four hours. Douglas told authorities he had never seen the three men before. He couldn't remember the license number on their car. He said he had been in a government relief camp at Omaha. After being given clothes and food in Norfolk the youth left Wednesday on a hitch-hiking trip for Missouri, where his father and mother live.

Score Injured in Illinois Tornado; Damage $750,000

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 11—(AP)—A furious onslaught by the triple forces of hail, rain and a tornadic wind left Jacksonville strewn today with the litter of wrecked homes and garages, uprooted trees and a snarl of broken communication lines.

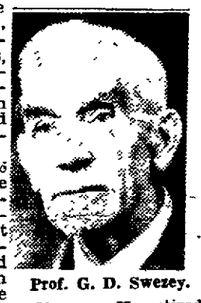

Sweeping down on the city and neighboring farms at 10:30 o'clock last night, the storm caused property damage unofficially estimated at $750,000 and injured a score of residents, three of them seriously.

Hail battered down crops. The most seriously hurt were Edward Perray, Imlay City, Mich., an employe of the Sam B. Dill circus, possible skull fracture, broken shoulder; and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, hurt when a tree fell on their automobile.

PROF. SWEZEY, PIONEER N. U. TEACHER, DIES

Early Astronomer and Meteorologist Dead In California.

Prof. Goodwin Deloss Swezey, 83, one of the corps of pioneer instructors of the University of Nebraska and the first one of the faculty to reach the age of 80, died at Beverly Hills, Cal., Tuesday, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Prof. G. D. Swezey.

For 36 years he was professor of astronomy at the university and had lived in the state for more than 50 years. He retired from active teaching on September 1, 1932, because of failing health. He was given the title of professor-emeritus. In July of that year he went to California, where he had lived with a daughter, Mrs. Minnie Elmendorf, in Beverly Hills. He died at her home.

Was Early Weather Man.

Born at Rockford, Ill., on January 10, 1851, Prof. Swezey came to Nebraska in 1880 and to Lincoln in 1894. He was educated in the Rockford school system and took his A. B. degree at Beloit university in Wisconsin in 1873. Two years later he took his master's degree. In 1880 he received a bachelor of divinity degree at Andover, Mass., Theological seminary. He also attended Yale divinity school.

In 1880 he came to Crete, where he taught general science at Doane

Girl Slayer Makes Fourth Prison Break

Pretty Arkansas Miss, Who Killed Two Men, Is Again a Fugitive.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 11 — (AP)—"To Whom It May Concern: I'll never be taken alive," was Helen Spence Eaton's grim warning to prison officials as they searched today for the comely girl, slayer of men, who made her fourth escape from the state farm for women near here yesterday.

The note was found in the 22-year-old fugitive's locker this bloodhounds combed the country-morning as a pose led by two side.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 11—(AP) — Helen Spence Eaton, pretty Arkansas girl who has killed two men, was a fugitive today from the state far for women for the fourth time within a year.

The quiet and carefree prisoner was serving a 10-year sentence for her second killing when she escaped by feigning illness. She took a guard's pistol in her flight yesterday and officials fear trouble in returning her this time.

Her fourth escape came a year to the day after she was paroled by Governor Futrell from a two-year sentence from the courtroom slaying of Jack Worls, alleged killer of her father. The shooting brought a dramatic climax to Worls' trial as the jury had just started to leave the room to consider the case Helen arose from her courtroom chair and fired a bullet into Worls' head.

After much delay, she was sentenced to prison, and escaped one time before her parole was granted Comine here, where she obtained new clothing and employment in a cafe, she worked less than a week when she entered police headquarters and admitted the slaying of Jim Bohots, a cafe operator at Dewitt, Ark.

A troubled conscience, she said, caused her to confess the crime which had been dismissed as unsolved by officers. She blamed unwelcome advances for the slaying.

TWO PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM REFORMATORY

Alonzo Dennis and Woodrow White Walk Away Tuesday Afternoon.

Alonzo Dennis, and Woodrow White, Indian, escaped from the state reformatory shortly before 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The men walked away while working in the field.

White, 20, is 5 feet 7 inches tall and was wearing dark blue overalls. He was sentenced to four years on a manslaughter charge June 18, 1932. He lives at Winnebago.

Dennis, 18, was imprisoned on an auto theft charge on December 17, 1931. His sentence was from one to five years His home is in Lincoln.

A number of men were hoeing weeds in a field near the reformatory and Dennis and White walked down a draw to escape.

Reformatory authorities said that they believed the men would be captured soon as police and county sheriff officers were quickly mobilized to capture the two men.

Lincoln police who were only a short distance from the reformatory investigating a drowning, began the pursuit shortly after the escape was discovered.

Family Troubles Bring Death to 3

BOSTON, July 11—(AP)— Three members of a family were found shot to death today in their home in the Hyde Park district, and a fourth, a baby, was critically wounded, the victims, police said, of a double slaying and a suicide.

John J. Gidney, 55, a letter carrier, police said, shot his daughter, Margaret Borgeson, 19, her husband, Ernest, 20, and their 6-month-old child, Estelle, through the head. Then he turned the gun on himself.

All with the exception of the child were dead when found. The child is expected to live.

The tragedy was a result of domestic troubles.

ONE BIG CODE NEAR FOR 450 SMALL TRADES

Johnson Hopes to Promulgate It Before Leaving On Tour Today.

WASHINGTON, July 11— (AP) — One big code for 450 small industries is expected to emerge from NRA's hopper momentarily.

This code, carrying the recovery unit another long stride on the road to simplification, will touch only such basic standards as wages, hours and prohibition of child labor. It will not contain price fixing.

Hugh S. Johnson, who disclosed yesterday that he wants to turn his NRA job over to a commission and step back into private life as soon as the president feels he can spare him, hoped to promulgate the new code before leaving today on a combination vacation-speaking tour westward.

His office sent out word that President Roosevelt had wirelessed Johnson telling him to speak as often as he wished and wherever he desired.

Answer To Reports.

This was considered an answer to published reports that President Roosevelt had curtailed the speaking tour in which Johnson is expected to expound the NRA. The

NEBRASKA CORN CONDITION AT 67

Production Estimate Is Fixed at 179,613,000 Bushels In State.

The condition of Nebraska corn as of July 1 was 67 per cent of normal, acording to estimates released by the federal agricultural statistics department at Washington.

The state's corn acreage was 8,553,000 and estimated production was 179,613,000 bushels.

Winter wheat in Nebraska showed a 30 per cent condition and an indicated production of 16,024,000 bushels.

Newspapers' Learn To Swim Week Registration Passes 1933 Total

Registration to date in the Lincoln Newspapers' fifth annual Learn to Swim week has surpassed that of last year with approximately 450 non-swimmers signed up for the week of free instruction.

Enrollment has been so heavy at the Y. W. C. A. that Miss Ruth Pratt, supervisor, announced the addition of a new class from 1 to 2 p. m., which will accommodate thirty more women. The Y. W. C. A. classes at 9 a. m., and 7 p. m., have been filled. This leaves two classes still open, the one just added and the 2 p. m., class.

Plenty Classes Open.

However there are still plenty of classes open at Muny, Capitol Beach and Y. M. C. A. The Muny has already added another session to its program and will have classes from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening for adults.

The business offices of The Star and The Journal report that more children are taking advantage of the free instruction this year than a year ago. Fewer men are registered to date, but nearly the same number of girls as in the past.

More out of town applications are being received this year too. A number have been registered from Malcolm and Valparaiso.

Registration for the fifth annual Learn Swim week closes Saturday night. Register now. Don't delay!

Increase In Marriages Indicates Improvement In Economic Conditions

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—More people are getting married these days, and it's an indication of improved economic conditions.

This is a finding of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's statistical bureau, which has just completed a survey in twenty-one states.

"It would appear," the bureau reported, "that a sizable proportion of the two million young men and women who postponed marriage during the difficult days of the depression are plucking up courage and getting married, as young people should."

The marriage rate in the area surveyed increased 4.3 per cent in 1933 over 1932. Indications were that this increase continued in the early months of 1934.

'The figure is still low in comparison with normal years,' 'the bureau reported.

TEMPERATURE OVER 100 HERE BEFORE NOON

Heat Mark For July 11 Broken; Showers Predicted.

The mercury reached 104 at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to set an all time record for the day and it was still climbing.

The mercury in Lincoln was playing leap frog with the 100 degree mark again Wednesday, reaching 100 at 11 o'clock and going to 102 at 12:30 to equal the all time heat record for July 11, set in 1930. Although there have been 16 other 100 degree days this summer, Wednesday was only the second to show a 100 reading before noon.

During the morning the high humidity of 61 per cent made the heat especially oppressive, and as the humidity slowly dropped, the mercury crawled up to equalize it. The humidity at 13:20 o'clock was only 20 per cent.

108 At Red Cloud.

Tuesday's maximum temperature was 98, set at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The high for the day in the state was at Red Cloud where the official reading was 108. Holdrege had a high of 106, Fairbury had 105 and Grand Island had 104. Auburn, Culbertson and Fairmont had readings of 100 or over.

The forecast promised possible thunderstorms Wednesday afternoon and evening with cooler temperatures. Thursday's prediction was

FIRST CATTLE CHECKS MAILED

Rockville Will Get Initial Payments In State.

With 2,000 head of cattle already purchased in Nebraska under the relief program and 17 checks totaling $2,088 on the way to Rockville from Kansas City, the plan continued to gain momentum Wednesday.

Wednesday's purchases included Loup City, 200; Ord, 250; Clay Center, 150; and Sargeant, 300. On Tuesday cattle bought were Ashton, 300; Bladen, 156; Ansley, 390; and North Loup, 100. On Thursday purchases scheduled include buying at Rockville, Elyria, Broken Bow, and Farwell, according to Prof. H. J. Gramlich, state agricultural drouth relief director. On Friday and Saturday 1,500 head of cattle will be bought in Sioux and Dawes counties.

Counties lready approved as drouth counties are Adams, Franklin, Sherman, Valley, Webster, Greeley, Sioux, Dawes, Howard, Clay, Custer, and Saline. Counties requesting primary classification and for whom approval is expected immediately are Lancaster, Box Butte, Thayer, Nuckolls, Harlan, Filmore, Pawnee, Johnson and Sheridan. Still more counties are expected to come in under the plan soon, according to Professor Gramlich.

Word that the AAA district auditing ofice mailed out the first batch of checks to cattle-selling Nebraska farmers was received Wednesday afternoon by Gramlich. "We expected payment would be made to farmers in about two weeks but we did not think the checks would come within less than a week," Gramlich commented.

COMPANION OF CAMPUS BEAUTY BEING SOUGHT

Marian Mills, 20, Daughter of Associate Professor, Dies at Home of Fraternity House Cook, Apparently as Result of Attempt to Prevent Motherhood.

NORMAN, Okla., July 11—(AP) — Belief that Marian Mills, 20-year-old campus beauty queen at the University of Oklahoma, died as the result of an attempt to prevent motherhood was expressed today by County Attorney Updegraff.

He said he based his theory, pending a postmortem report, upon the story of Mrs. Hazel Brown, cook for the Delta Upsilon fraternity, in whose apartment the girl's body was found yesterday afternoon shortly after Neal Myers, a pharmacy student, had summoned a physician and then disappeared.

Mrs. Brown, said Updegraff, admitted that Miss Mills, the daughter of Elbert M. Mills, an associate professor at the university, had been taking a "quack" medical preparation.

Search was continued for Myers, who had come to the fraternity cook's apartment with the girl Monday, remaining until yesterday afternoon and telling Mrs. Brown that he and Miss Mills were married.

At the time, the girl's parents thought she was attending a house party at Tulsa.

Cook Is Detained.

"I believe Mrs. Brown's story, as much as she has told, to be true," said Updegraff, who explained he was detaining the cook for further questioning. "The autopsy report will determine it definitely.

"I'm satisfied that death was caused by overdoses of this medicine, whatever it is."

At El Reno, home of Myers, his mother, Mrs. P B Myers, said she had learned definitely that he and Miss Mills had been secretly married. She did not know, however, where or when the ceremony had taken place

The father of the 21-year-old student, Dr. P. B. Myers, hurried to Norman and expressed the belief that Neal would appear when he recovers from panic.

"I don't believe there is anything

a gangrene infection resulting from a ruptured appendix.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vogt of Aurora, Neb., and a brother, Verne, of California. Funeral services will be held Sunday at Hampton, Neb.

Prominent in Dramatics.

Vogt graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1932. He was prominent in dramatic circles of the university, appearing in a number of University Players and Kosmet Klub productions. His most notable part was that of Stanhope in the play "Journey's End."

He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and of the University Players. He was an associate member of Kosmet Klub. He was also a reserve officer.

He started his work in radio about six years ago.

FOUR PORTLAND STRIKERS SHOT

Police Fire On Maritime time Pickets Trying To Uncouple Cars.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11—(AP)—Four strike pickets were wounded, two seriously by bullets when police clashed with maritime workers today.

Police fired into a group of pickets who hurled rocks at a locomotive cab and then tried to uncouple the cars as the train crews attempted to run a freight train onto a municipal terminal, through a blockade of pickets.

Strike Violence.

MILWAUKE, Wis., July 11—(AP)—One shot was fired, 10 men were arrested and two others were injured in strike disorders today at the Wehr Steel Casting Co., plant in suburban West Allis.

Pickets became infuriated when a workman fired the shot, and tipped over two automobiles in which workers were attempting to enter the plant. Police quelled the turmoil.

As Rogers Sees It

MULESHOE, Tex., July 11—Flew all night just to get over here to the Mashed O outfit to the calf branding, at Ewing Halsell's, an old boyhood friend. They are branding five thousand calves, but the whole cattle country is mighty dry, the government is doing what they can to help 'em out, but even a democrat can't make it rain. They are going to bring that up at the next congress.

There is no finer and more satisfying business in the world than the cow business, when you get half a chance, but when the elements are ag'in' you, you are just like a candidate that's run second.

This is a part of the famous X I T ranch, that was the biggest in the world. An English syndicate got it for building "Ma" and "Jim" a state capitol in Austin.

Yours, WILL.

HALL FORCED PAY MORE FOR BONDS

U. S. 4¼'s Jump Half Point After State Board Approves Buying.

State Treasurer Hall learned Wednesday morning, when he called up bankers on the telephone to arrange for purchasing $600,000 of U. S. treasury 4¼ per cent bonds as an investment for Nebraska's trust funds, that the price of these securities had advanced half a point since Tuesday afternoon, when the board of educational lands and funds empowered him to take such action.

The closing price Tuesday in New York was 113.31, while the last offering of the day was at somewhat higher figure. Wednesday morning however, the quotation had jumped to 114 4-32.

After skirmishing around by telephone, Hall decided to take $400,000 at this price. He hopes to get the other $200,000 at a little less, and will hold off on buying that amount on the chance of a reaction in the bond market.

Appointment Made — Rachel J. Elwick, was appointed special administratrix for the estate of Carwin L. Elwick by County Judge Robin Reid Wednesday.

School Projects — Rural school FERA projects which were stopped in May are to be resumed Thursday, according to County Superintendent Jesse Correll. About $8,000 had been spent for labor and materials on that work at the time twenty-five projects ceased in May. They involved renovating, redecorating and landscaping of rural school houses.

Out Of Race—A. W. Oldfield, 1521 U street republican candidate for sheriff, withdrew his candidacy for the nomination in a notice filed Wednesday morning at the county clerk's office.

Judge Polk to Speak—The Co-Operative club will meet for luncheon Thursday noon at the chamber of commerce. Municipal Judge John L. Polk will be the speaker. The club is planning a day of golf, tennis and swimming at Eastridge on July 26.

Car Recovered—A car belonging to Harry Anderson, 639 South Thirty-second street, which was stolen between 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, was found by police officers near Twenty-sixth and South at 6:10 o'clock Tuesday evening. The car was not damaged.

New Trash Cans—Thirty-six new trash cans have been placed at downtown street corners by the street corners by the street department, Commissioner E. M. Bair said Wednesday. They are painted a brownish tint. The cans that have been removed will be repaired, repainted brown and distributed to other places.

Civil Service Exam—Fifteen Lincoln people, all but two of them women, took stenographer and typist examination Wednesday for eligibility to government service. This group was the second of a group of more than 100 applicants. The position pays from $1,320 to $1,500 a year. The examination was given at the postoffice under the direction of James F. Hallstrom, civil service secretary.

To Redeem Old Stamps—Lincoln postal authorities received authorization Wednesday to redeem all the old eight-cent air mail stamps and envelopes, of which quite a number are outstanding. The stamps will be exchanged for the new six-cent stamps and the envelopes will be redeemed by an exchange for the new envelopes. Rates were reduced on July 1, from 8 cents for the first ounce and 13 cents for each ounce thereafter to 6 cents for each ounce.

To Amend License—The city ordinance regulating house moving is to be amended by the city council to provide for issuing a license for three months, instead of a year for which the fee is $100. The quarterly fee will be $25. The amount of bond will not be changed. The change is to be made because there is not enough house moving to pay a mover to take out a license for a year. There is only one person in the business here, members of the council said.

Asks New Trial—A motion for a new trial was filed in district court by the state department of insurance in its suit against Thomas P. Johnson, one of the incorporators of the Lincoln Hail Insurance company. The court had found for the defendant and dismissed the case. The state department, in its motion, contends that the finding of the court was not based on sufficient evidence. In the original suit the department sought to recover $22,853 and $350 from the defendant on two causes of action.

Divorce Decrees — Four divorces were granted in decrees filed in District court Wednesday. Ruth G. Gibson was granted a divorce from Richard A. Gibson and her maiden name, Nelson, was restored. John E. Prescott was granted a divorce from Christel Prescott. Olive Stump was divorced from John Stump. Her maiden name Goings was restored and she was awarded $50 for attorneys fees. Charles A. Sutherland was granted a divorce from Gladys M. Sutherland and was given custody of a minor child, Charles Rollin Sutherland, 7

Cole Bound Over—Howard Cole, returned to Lincoln Tuesday night from Kansas City, Mo., pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery when arraigned in Municipal court Wednesday morning and was bound over to District court. Cole admitted cashing six checks in Lincoln, June 6, which bore the names of Dr. George E. Condra and Dr. R. G. Clapp.

New Petition Filed — Miena A. Gerdes of Hallam, executrix for the estate of Jacob Ruhl who died April 18, filed a new petition for probate. Her action followed the discovery of a new will although its provisions were virtually the same as those of the will under which the original estate filing was made. The will specifies that Mr. Ruhl's four children shall share equally in the estate.

Divorce Petitions—In divorce petitions filed in District court Wednesday Claire M. Compton asked a divorce from Charles W. Compton and Clarence L. Knupp asked a divorce from Dolly M. Knupp. The Comptons were married February, 1927 at Papillion, Neb. They have one child, William Lyle, 6, now in custody of the plaintiff. Mrs. Compton charges cruelty and desertion. The Knupps were married May, 1914 at Anna, Ill. Cruelty is charged in the petition.

latter from $1,050,000 to an even million.

Other sizable amounts shaved off the 1933 assessments are as follows:

Beatrice Power Co., $30,000, cut $10 000.
Central West Public Service Co., Omaha, $22,000, cut $500
Cornhusker Electric Co., Fairbury, $2,500; cut $2,500.
Elkhorn Valley Powe rCo, Scribner, $700, cut $2,000.
Railway Express Agency, Chicago, $63,800, cut $19,900.
Southern Nebraska Power Co., Superior, $95,000, cut $5,000.
Western Telephone Corp. group, Kansas City, owning exchanges at Arnold Bloomfield, Callaway, Page, Ewing, Winnetoon, Lynch, Oconto Osmond Verdel, Wausa, and Verdigre, $5,000, cut $5.000.

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. franchise worth is placed at $180,000, unchanged from last year. The Northwestern Bell is also continued on the 1933 basis, at $1,000,000. The Postal Telegraph remains at $10,000 and the Western Union, $50,000.

Start Hearings Monday.

Formal hearings by the state equalization board before it takes final action on corporation and general property assessments are scheduled to begin next Monday. The board must sit at least five consecutive business days for this purpose. It may continue the sessions for a longer period if necessary to clean up the business.

It is not expected that much will be accomplished the first day; but on Tuesday the board will give special attention to railroads in respect to the equalization of assessments between their properties on one hand and real estate and personal property on the other.

Wednesday is reserved for franchise tax hearings, giving all corporations of the utility class a chance to offer any objections they may have to their provisional valuations under that heading.

Regular assessments of pipe line companies will be set for hearing by themselves if any protests should come in against the returns thereon made by county assessors and boards of equalization.

The state board will devote a day or two, after the special hearings are out of the way, to receiving pleas from county officials regarding the real estate assessments of their respective counties. These are out of line in certain counties where attempts were made to reduce the former values on a percentage basis. Undoubtedly some of the lowered figures thus turned in will be raised by the state board to put them back on a parity with other counties.

State Tax Commissioner Smith finds no great variation in the assessment of personal property as reported to him from over the state, taking into consideration the difference in local conditions, distance from markets, etc. Very little, if any, equalizing between counties will be necessary on this class of holdings.

tour originally was reported to number 15 addresses.

Yesterday a reporter had questioned him about this and Johnson replied: "I asked the president but I haven't heard from him yet." Johnson, who has been working at a terrific pace, disclosed that "the president told me to get out and rest for a month."

Leaving by plane today, he plans to speak tomorrow at Waterloo, Ia., at Portland, Ore., on July 15, then go to the University of California to receive an honorary Phi Beta Kappa key about July 19.

After an address at Los Angeles July 20, he expects to take a two-weeks vacation in the Sierra or the Rocky mountains, then speak at Chicago on his return trip to the capital.

Will Keep Veto Power.

Whatever road NRA may take in the future, Johnson made it plain that the government will keep its veto power over code organizations if he has his way.

Vigorously, he disclaimed yesterday any idea of turning the job of running industry over to a council of code authorities.

"I'm not in favor of that," he said.

He disclosed that he had recommended to the president that a commission, instead of one man, boss NRA now that it is passing from the pioneering work of setting up codes to the job of administering them.

That may mean Johnson's retirement, although he said he would "stay just as long as the president thinks he needs me." He said he probably would remain in NRA until congress meets next January although he'd "like to get away."

Committee Appointed To Work Out Details Of Relief Agreement

The details of working out the relief setup in Lancaster county under the new county-state FERA agreement were placed in the hands of a committee of four at a meeting held in the office of Federal Agent Rowland Haynes Tuesday afternoon.

The committee includes H. E. Elmore, representing the state relief office, County Clerk J. B. Morgan, R. E. Campbell representing business interests, and J. W. Easton, who represents the Social Welfare Society of which he is president.

At a meeting of the committee Wednesday morning certain phases of relief administration were delegated to Miss Grace Bradshaw, director of the county relief office, and to Miss Helen Eastman, director of the Social Welfare Society.

Since the agreement provides for the co-ordination of county and federal relief work in each county under one head, one of the matters to be considered is the place of the Social Welfare Society in the new setup. The committee of four will meet again Friday.

TWO CALIFORNIA WOMEN SLAIN

OAKLAND, Cal., July 11—(AP)—Two elderly women were found slain in bed today, apparently beaten to death by a burglar who ransacked the room and escaped.

The victims were Miss Adella Merrill, 73, and Miss Millie Foote, 64.

TEMPERATURE OVER 100 HERE BEFORE NOON

for fair and cooler. The state forecast was for thundershowers over the southeast with cooler weather.

A few scattered showers fell over the state and even Lincoln had a trace of rain. North Platte had .08 of an inch moisture, while Valentine, Sioux City and Omaha had traces, according to weather bureau reports. The Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph company reported that Norfolk had a heavy rain during the night. Fairmont had a light shower and Hastings had a quarter of an inch. McCook had a trace.

The Burlington reported an inch fell during the night at Oakland, Crete, Ashland, Ravenna, Aurora, Ferry, Red Cloud, Palisade, Norcatur and Konona had showers, and Rain reported to the weather bureau during the last 24 hours is as follows:

Broken Bow	18	Columbus	23
Culbertson	.10	Fairbury	02
Fairmont	03	Hartington	05
Holdrege	16	North Loup	.07
North Platte	08	Oakdale	21
O'Neill	17	Red Cloud	.20
Tekamah	.12

Minatare had a light rain, the Burlington reported, as did Halsey and Seneca.

Hamlet received .25 of an inch.

Temperatures ranged right at 100 over most of the state Tuesday. During the night the mercury slipped down to 78 degrees at 3 and 4 o'clock in Lincoln but after that it began slowly climbing again.

More Rain at Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 11—(AP)—Accompanied by an awesome display of lightning and sharp claps of thunder, seldom equalled in Norfolk in recent years, a light rain that measured .22 of an inch fell here last night, bringing the July total precipitation to 2.27 inches.

Lightning bolts caused some damage to telephones in Norfolk homes and burned out a number of fuses on transformers on high voltage lines Many parts of northeast Nebraska received light rains last night.

Norfolk has now had precipitation recorded by the official weather observer here every day since June 29 with the lone exception of July 6.

CHANCE TO MAKE RESTITUTION IS STUDLEY'S PLEA

Ex-Monowi Banker Asks Parole; Tells Effort To Recoup Losses.

With the assertion that he used his bank's money in a ranching enterprise in an effort to recoup bank losses, Russell Studley, 45-year-old former banker at Monowi, Wednesday appeared before the state pardon board to ask a parole from his three sentences, aggregating 4 to 40 years for misuse of moneys of the Ponca Valley State bank of Monowi.

The bank failed in 1930 for $64,495.15. Studley and his wife admitted falsification of bank records for $40,000. Both pleaded guilty to charges, Studley on embezzlement and his wife on forging a certificate of deposit for $1,000. She served part of a sentence of 1 to 10 years at the York woman's reformatory.

Wants Make Restitution.

"I was trying to make my ranch pay what I had put into it and in addition the money the bank was short," Studley said "I couldn't make it." He expressed a desire to pay back the money he had taken and said that he had left all his assets at Monowi to his creditors.

Speaking in behalf of Studley were his attorneys, Fred S. Berry of Wayne and J. J. Ledwith of Lincoln; County Judge Cocoran of York; Stanley Maly and W. E. Straub of Lincoln, John Misko, retired Ord business man; Crawford J. Mortensen, president of an Ord bank; John Quinn, Columbus farmer; and Rev. Thomas Maxwell, prison chaplain.

Harry Siman, Wayne attorney for Mrs. Studley, told the board that while Mrs. Studley was suing for a divorce, yet she wanted her husband's release to aid in rearing the family of two children. He asked the board, if it granted the parole, to make a provision that Studley was not to disturb his family in any way. Mrs. Studley was at the prison but did not attend the hearing.

An interruption in the hearing came following Rev. Maxwell's statement that Studley had been well behaved while at the prison. "I thought that all prisoners behaved out here," Gov. Bryan said. "All we ever get up before the board have that recommendation."

"Governor," interposed N. T. Harmon, state probation officer, "only the men that do behave themselves are given a chance to get before the board."

"If there are any that have been denied a hearing before us because of misbehavior walls in the prison, I'd like to have a list of them," the governor told Harmon.

Chappell Proposes Monthly Budget For Mothers' Pension Fund

With an eye to avoiding a mother's pension dilemna next year, District Judge E. B. Chappell said Wednesday that he was asking county probation officers to confer with Clerk J. B. Morgan on the matter of drawing up a budget for that fund.

This year the $21,500 fund was completely exhausted by May 22 and women on the mother's pension rolls have been receiving regular county relief. Judge Chappell, the court officer for mother's pension activities, said he would suggest that the fund be divided into monthly allotments with larger amounts apportioned or the winter months, when the nee is greater.

against my boy," he said. "He always has been a clean young man."

Although relatives of the Mills girl said last night that she was engaged to marry Bernard Doud, university engineering student who lives in Shreveport, La., friends said she and Myers had been having "dates" for some time.

Sought Medical Aid.

The 39-year-old Mrs. Brown told a story of futile attempts to obtain medical aid for the girl, dating from last April. Updegraff said, and of a desperate resort to the preparation.

Medicine was found in Mrs. Brown's home, the county attorney said.

"When did Myers first tell you of her condition?" Updegraff said he asked the cook.

"It was in April," he quoted her as replying. "He came to me and said he was in trouble. He wanted to know the name of a doctor. I suggested one in Oklahoma City. He came back and said he had seen this doctor, but the doctor wanted $75 and he could not raise the money.

"I tried then and several times later to get him to go to his father. He said he would rather die."

Agrees to Plan.

On Monday, she said, according to Updegraff, Myers came to her, told her he had obtained a prescription from a Chickasha doctor and asked for a place to stay while the preparation was being taken. She agreed, and, according to the story, the girl began taking the medicine Monday afternoon, continuing at intervals until the time of her death.

Mrs. Brown insisted she took no part in the arrangement other than to provide the couple with a place to stay. Until 2:25 p. m., yesterday, when she last saw the girl, Miss Mills did not seem ill, she said.

"I had to try to protect this girl's reputation," she said in explaining why she did not tell all that she knew at first.

Chosen in 1930 by Frederic March, movie star, as the university's "most beautiful" girl, Miss Mills also was elected "most popular." She was graduated last month.

SPITE MARRIAGE

by Katharine Haviland-Taylor

SYNOPSIS: Marsha Moore's mother was gay and flirtatious, and not much of a mother. Her father concealed life's rebuffs behind a smiling countenance and taught Marsha not to care deeply for anyone—excepting herself. And now both father and mother are dead, and Marsha at sixteen has gone to live with her aunt, Miss Gertrude Moore, which forbidding spinster has no human contacts, but rather "duties."

Admiration often "quite wearied her."

Chapter Two.
TEN YEARS.

The ten years that lay between Miss Gertrude Moore at thirty and Miss Gertrude Moore at forty taught Marsha a great deal of how to manage—with many other things.

Even at sixteen she had learned to look uncaring when she heard some ancient gallant murmur, "A daughter of the gods!" some sport's rough and hearty, "Jove, quite ripping!" or the honest and fervently breathed "Wonderful girl!" which sprang from the lips of a boy.

After sixteen was passed, she didn't have to pretend unconcern. She was so accustomed to full admiration by that hour that she felt no flutter from it. Admiration was so frequent that it wore the gray garb of the entirely expected and the bound-to-occur, and it often "quite wearied" her.

Upon the streets, in restaurants, and in theaters, men glanced her way casually to have their glance arrested and condensed; a little bright gleam would come to their eyes. Marsha measured men by the gleam and its intensity, and to stretch Mr. Kipling's line a bit, she learned about women from them.

Most women let their faces sour at such exhibition, touched a male arm with effort to tighten the domestic leash, or after a bitter glance at Marsha, stared, angry, ahead. Women, as a group, didn't like her. They saw her as a menace to a solid and domestic peace or to a budding affair; and one does not make friends with a menace.

Marsha, at twenty-six, was loudly frank in admitting that women bored her, and she thought they did. She did not consider the fact that the man who is stupid in business usually professes a distaste for business; that the woman who is divorced says there are no happy marriages and that the girl who cannot hold her lover says all men are liars; that every distaste and aversion may be a confession of a failure.

She walked alone a good part of the time, always when she did not select from the ranks of one of the many admiring males. To be just to her, women did not give her a chance and men gave to her too much chance; and this often makes trouble.

Doctor James, her aunt's Rector and the Rector of St. Timothy's, was the one man in the world whom she respected and the one man whom she tried to avoid. He always made, in an almost unexplored chamber of her heart, the bitterest ache.

It was he who had retrieved her from an attempted elopement with the music teacher at the Church School. He had found her, and the melting-eyed Mr. Craven (who was well named) just in time.

"Well, Marsha," said Doctor James. She turned, to go white. "Craven," Doctor James went on, "I hear your youngest boy has croup. You'd better go home to him. And—if you do your best to help your wife care for him and to remmber your family, I shall say nothing of this."

Marsha stepped into the taxicab that had followed the one in which she had started her futile journey with Herbert Craven. Doctor James followed her. "Do you mind if I smoke?" he asked. She choked out a "No."

"Would you like to smoke?" he asked after a litlte progress over an assertive stretch of cobblestones.

She gave him a blank look which grew of surprise. Then she said a weak "Yes."

"I carry them," he said, bringing forth a neat, small leather case, "for young ladies who try to elope—"

"Does my aunt know?" she asked. He nodded. Then he put his hand over hers. But his touch was unlike any she had ever had from any other man; it was only kindly and comforting, and vastly paternal.

"Some day," he said slowly, "the love that you need will come to you, but it will never come through cheating. I know what you need, and of the shortage in your heart's diet, but you would not have had love from Craven. A man who deserts his family cannot give that; he can give but a weak display of rather wornout passion. Let me see—you are seventeen—and you felt you could not stand it much longer with Miss Gertrude? And you thought, child, that Craven really cared—"

"Yes—"

"Well, you are mistaken. You can stand it with Miss Gertrude, and Craven didn't really care. Remember that, and remember that what you keep of decency within, makes your life. The things that are outside don't need to matter.

"Miss Gertrude is outside for you, I know, and I fear she always will be. But there are books and pictures and music. And some day, my dear child, there will be the right sort of love for you. Now let me see, what are you reading?"

She told him; she was beginning to feel "a little better," but she still clung to his hand in a way that touched him and that told him too much of her fear that was made by her thought of "going home."

He went with Marsha into Miss Gertrude's presence that day. When Miss Gertrude said, "I did not dream—I did not dream—that there could be love in a church school—" his eyes met Marsha's and he saw a flash in them (that echoed one in his eyes) and he thought, "Thank heaven, she has a sense of humor; that ought to help!".

Dr. James saw in Marsha a strangely thwarted little girl, one who still showed, after all Aunt Gertrude could do, the remnants of her childish desire to please, to be loved, and to live a happy life. But he doubted that Aunt Gertrude's strange code would permit her niece to develop normally.

He promised himself that he would call on Marsha often and lend her books, and he did, to build in her a pretty reading taste. And one bad day, when she followed him, wistful and hungry to the hall, he slipped into her hand a packet of cigarets; grinning down at her as he did it and as he said, "Not in bed; a fire of that sort would be too difficult to explain to your worthy aunt!"

"Shocking Gerty" is a pastime for Marsha, tomorrow.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Unbalanced Lives.

A well-balanced life and a healthy physical condition prevent the frazzled nerves which always lead to unfair criticism and outbursts of anger and rage. It is, therefore, of greatest importance that the married couple avoid living conditions which rob them of their normal rest and tranquillity.

"Norma" writes that she and her husband were great pals and lovers for six years, then they started running around with a gay crowd, going to many parties, and the trouble started.

The quarreling which has resulted from the extreme social life they are leading no doubt results from frazzled nerves, and the upset nerves result from both lack of proper rest and worry over living beyond their income. It isn't worth it.

Both husband and wife are intolerant and discordant when their lives are not well ordered and balanced.

Why Not Now?

Dear Minerva: My husband has set his mind on selling everything we own here and going to a small town and go into business for himself. He formerly owned a business here, but he got out from under when the depression first started and has been working at a trade for three years. He hasn't been happy and now has what he considers a good opportunity to build up a nice business in a small town.

This is the difficulty. Our only daughter, who is nineteen years old, has a good part-time job here and is attending a business college. She has the promise of a full-time job when she finishes her course. Naturally she does not want to leave. Nor would there be anything for her in a small town. Her father says she could keep books for him, but that wouldn't be interesting to an ambitious, young girl, nor would it be profitable.

It seems to me that we should not desert our only child at such a critical point in her life. Please advise me, as I am torn with conflict as to where my duty lies. Please advise me.—MABEL.

A. I see no reason why the girl should not remain here at her job, rooming and boarding, possibly with some friend, and continue with her own plans. Many girls of her age do that. It is sometimes an advantage for a girl to be away from home for a while. If you have confidence in her and feel that she is capable of judging for herself, you should have no scruples about leaving her.

It seems too bad to restrain your husband, when he has found that which he believes will bring him prosperity and contentment. It is difficult to be separated from your only daughter. But that time is sure to come sooner or later, you know.

Answered Briefly.

Mrs. K. N.: Most boys pass through a period when they dress in a flashy manner. It denotes a phase of adolescence rather than lack of taste. By all means try to show your son that the angle of his hat is very important, that a certain tilt is jaunty but a little more tilt looks tough, that the well-dressed man chooses subdued colors in socks and ties and does not go in for extreme pinch-backs and such fads. But don't take it seriously if he continues with some of his extremities for a year or so. He will suddenly find out for himself that he is dressing all wrong.

Mrs. L. J. G.: The world would be a dreary place without music. You should consider yourself fortunate that your children are musically inclined. The mere fact that their father has never "made any money" from his music should certainly be no reason for attempting to discourage your children from following their artistic inclinations. Whether they are commercially benefited or not, their music will bring them the greatest happiness throughout life, and bring happiness to others, also.

Gasoline Prices Cut Two Cents In Lincoln

Competitive conditions pushed Lincoln gasoline prices down Tuesday morning. A check of the major oil companies in the city showed that stations had been ordered to start selling ethyl gas at 17½ cents a gallon, regular grades 15½ cents and third grade at 15 cents. This is a drop of two cents a gallon on the first two grades and a half cent on the third.

STEEL PRODUCTION OUTPUT INCREASES

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—A rise of 6 points, or nearly 30 per cent, in this week's steel ingot production rate to 27 per cent of capacity is largely accounted for by public works projects and the automotive and railroad industries, said Iron Age today.

Higher schedules are reported from all principal producing districts except the Birmingham and Wheeling areas.

Moore President

Members of the board of directors of the International Dairy Goat Record association elected O. A. Moore of Lincoln president at their annual meeting in the chamber of commerce. Other officers are R. L. Rutledge, Nehawka, vice president; John P. Brox, Lincoln, secretary; Charles Feelhaver, Hampton, treasurer; and Sanford Buck of Cincinnati, Ia., a member of the board of directors.

PLAN NEW CALL FOR BOND BIDS

City To Seek Offers On 10 Year Issue; Saving Is Anticipated.

Bids on $178,000 of special assessment refunding bonds, opened on Tuesday by the city council, will be rejected and bids will be advertised on a new issue to mature in 10 years, under present plans of the council. Technical details may cause delay, however, for a week. The first bid call specified 10 to 20 year bonds.

The decision is the result of the council's desire to test the validity of issuing 10-year bonds, payable one-tenth annually. It also was declared that the opportunity to sell 10-year securities was never better than now.

See Interest Saving.

In addition to the saving in interest, City Clerk Berg said, bond buyers prefer a short time security when interest rates are as low as 3 per cent, which is stipulated for this issue. When the rate is around 4½ and 5 per cent, they prefer the 10 to 20 year bond, he added.

That there will be no difficulty in selling the issue is a foregone conclusion, according to members of the council. In the event that the bids are not up to expectations because of changed market conditions at the time the offers are prepared, it is understood the entire block will be purchased as an investment for the water and light department sinking funds. The city, however, cannot pay above par because of a restrictive clause in the charter, it was said.

Discussion of 10 year bonds was the result of the First Trust Co., the only bidder besides the city on the 20-year call for offers, filing a bid specifying a premium of $1,250 on a 3 per cent 10-year issue, and agreeing to pay for printing the bonds and the cost of the legal opinion.

Discussed Previously.

This is not the first time the advisability of issuing a 10-year security has been discussed by members of a city council. Other councils have talked about it many times, but the matter was always dropped because of adverse opinions by the members of the legal department.

In this instance, however, officials of the First Trust said "We will be glad to take a 10-year bond issue sold by Lincoln. Our attorneys in Lincoln and Omaha have told us you have authority to sell bonds of that class. If we did not have faith in our attorneys, certainly we would not take the issue and dispose of the bonds to our clients."

Chapman & Cutler of Chicago, the city's bond attorneys, have written two opinions on the validity of this class of bonds. The first, received only a couple of months ago, said the city could issue ten year bonds, optional after five years. It was specified, however, that if such bonds were issued one-tenth must be paid annually. In a later ruling the attorneys reversed themselves and said there is no authority for a 10-year bond issue.

The charter provision on bonds follows: "No bonds issued by the city for any purpose shall draw interest at a greater rate than 5 per cent per annum, and no bond shall be sold for less than par or face value, and all bonds shall be redeemable at the option of the city at any time after ten years from their date, and not more than 10 per cent of any issue of bonds shall fall due in one year, and the same per cent yearly thereafter until all the bonds of the issue have become due."

Ritchie Planning Speaking Tour For Bryan and Banning

William Ritchie of Omaha, who announced last week that he will support Governor Bryan for the democratic nomination for United States senator and W. B. Banning for governor, was at the capitol Tuesday afternoon and conferred with Bryan. He was the governor's primary opponent in 1932. Ritchie expects to make a speaking tour in behalf of his preferred candidates during the period just preceding the primaries on August 14.

Appendicitis Aplenty

BLACKSBURG, S. C., July 11—(AP)—When one of three sons of Cliff Ross, a contractor, was stricken with appendicitis, Ross took him to a hospital for an operation.

Order Of Strader Triangle Inducts Three New Members

The Order of the Strader Triangle inducted three new members Tuesday evening at the closing campfire for the second period at Camp Strader, Lincoln Y. M. C. A. boys' camp at Crete. The three honored are Elmer Batty, John Good and William Weston. The order was founded in 1933 to further the spirit of service among campers.

Recognition certificates were presented and Earl R. Middlekauff, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. boys' work committee, spoke. Two of the three non-swimmers at the beginning of the period developed sufficient skill to pass beginners' tests. They are Lawrence Wentz, jr., and Raymond Bailey. Dale Lawrence won the rifle shooting competition and Don Taylor took the championship in both tennis and horseshoes for heavyweights. Horseshoe pitching for lightweights was won by Bill Weston and Kenneth Vifquain won the lightweight tennis tourney.

STATE WILL BUY $600,000 BONDS

Big Premium Required For Purchase Of 4¼ U. S. Securities.

Six hundred thousand dollars of United States 4¼ per cent bonds which at present command a premium of between 13 and 14 per cent in the securities market, will be purchased by State Treasurer Hall under authority given him Tuesday afternoon by the board of educational lands and funds, as long term investment for the state's permanent school and other trust funds.

It will cost the state about $680,000 to obtain the government bonds with a face value of $600,000. This will reduce the net interest return to 3¾ per cent. The bonds will be due for payment in 1952, but may be retired at the option of the government, in 1947.

The interest yield, even after paying the big premium which these bonds command, is almost as large as the state can get on securities of municipalities and other local units of government in Nebraska.

During the past two or three years the state treasurer's office has been investing some of the state's idle cash in low rate federal securities. These were bought, however, not for permanent investment, but only as a temporary expedient to secure a larger interest return on surplus current funds than the state would get by depositing the money in banks. On these bonds the interest return averages 3 per cent. They could be resold at this time, however, at a profit of 2 or 3 per cent above what the state paid for them.

Besides empowering Treasurer Hall to buy the U. S. 4¼ per cent obligations, the board of educational lands and funds voted at Tuesday's session to accept federal land bank and home loan corporation bonds from state school land tenants in payment of their obligations to the state. These bonds are guaranteed by the government and are quoted slightly above par in the market.

Purchase of the following bonds from Nebraska subdivisions was sanctioned by the board:

Orleans school district, $40,000, at 4 per cent; village of Lawrence, water, $15,000, at 4½ per cent; Elgin school district, $6,500 at 5 per cent.

The state treasurer reported that he has about three-quarters of a million dollars of cash on hand available for investment in several trust funds. This includes $200,000 recently received from the state of Mississippi in redemption of its bonds and $214,000 of Alliance paving bonds that were called in and refunded.

MASONIC TEMPLE CONTRACT IS LET

Olson To Start Work Next Week; Expect Jobs For 100.

Contract for the construction of a new Masonic temple at Seventeenth and L streets, has been awarded to the Olson Construction Co., and work is expected to be under way not later than Monday of next week, Robert R. Gray, president of the Masonic Temple association, said Wednesday. The building will be of Bedford stone and reinforced concrete, at a completed cost of about $110,000.

The building will extend 112 feet on L street and 78 feet on Seventeenth street. It will be about 40 feet high. There will be two floors and it has been estimated by the contractor that construction operations will provide employment for more than 100 men.

On the ground floor there will be a dining room, ladies' parlor and kitchen. The second floor will be arranged for lodge rooms, lounge rooms and locker rooms. Each floor will have three cloak rooms.

The building association includes the following Masonic groups:

Lincoln lodge No. 19, Lancaster lodge No. 54, Liberty lodge No. 300, Royal Arch Masons No. 6, Mt. Moriah commandery No. 4 Knights Templar, and Electa chapter No. 6 of O. E. S. The groups have met at 236 South Eleventh street for 32 years.

Woman Has Operation To Repair Scar From 3-Year-Old Dog Bite

Most dog bites are painful, but they don't last long.

Miss Oleta Harris, 300 South Sixteenth street, is just recovering from the effects of a "nip" which a pet police dog took out of her nose over three years ago, and she is convinced that some "bites" last too long.

Recently she was operated on at Bryan Memorial hospital by Dr. Earl Brooks. The operation required an hour and three quarters. She is now recovering at home, where she reported that the stitches taken at the time of the accident "never healed up quite right."

HARSH LANGUAGE FROM MISTER FLETCHER.

NO WEASEL words are to be found in the address of Henry P. Fletcher, the new chairman of the republican national committee, delivered at Jackson, Mich. last Saturday before a gathering of his party associates observing the eightieth anniversary of the organization's birth.

Itemizing some of the authority delegated to President Roosevelt by congress, Fletcher declared it included, among other things, power to "distribute public funds at his discretion to certain groups of the population and so open the door to the debauching of the electorate."

That is a horrible charge. The reference cannot be misunderstood. What Mr. Fletcher had in mind were the relief activities carried on by the federal government for the purpose of relieving distress during the winter months of 1933-34, and which, it has been found necessary to continue. If that is to be the battle line, Mr. Roosevelt and his democratic colleagues need have no fear. The president is not called upon to apologize for what he has done to eliminate suffering. It was a necessary step. Otherwise, millions of people would have been hungry, cold, and desperate. Certain disorder and bloodshed would have followed, had Washington been indifferent to the necessity of the hour.

So while Chairman Fletcher may see fit to snarl and growl, and to hurl a despicable charge that policies growing out of the broadest type of humanitarianism actually may be attributed to an attempt to debauch the electorate the fact remains that Mr. Roosevelt has the solid support of the nation on his relief efforts. We had three years of slow attrition under Mr. Hoover. It was his belief that nothing should or could be done to protect more than 10 million people out of employment and without funds. The only cure was to wear out the disease slowly. Meanwhile, what was to become of these people? They had reached the end of their rope. They had exhausted all of their resources, and were dependent upon charity. They could not be expected to sit by idly—the men of these households, while the pleas of their wives and the cries of their children sounded in their ears. Mr. Roosevelt had the choice either of feeding them or of inviting them to demonstration and possible violence. And had the federal government been indifferent to the facts, who could have blamed these idle people if they had caused disturbances?

For his services, Mr. Roosevelt is rewarded by Chairman Fletcher with a statement the president was endeavoring to debauch the voters by dispensing funds from the national treasury. If such falsehoods can be hurled around recklessly, with the campaign still some months away, and still cold, what may be expected later on?

The problem of relief in an unemployment crisis is too big to be subjected to a barrage of carping criticism. It should not encounter squalls of scolding. America has got off very cheaply so far. Across the waters, the British have been at death grips with unemployment since 1920. Billions of dollars of treasure have been required to keep the British destitute peaceful and orderly. The burden came back upon those of means. Here we have been drawing upon federal funds for a little more than a year, and for all that period, we have spent a little more than 7 billion dollars. And despite Chairman Fletcher and all the others sympathizing with him, this problem of relief will be with us for some years to come and we may as well be prepared to face the music. It is going to cost a great deal of money — already a great deal has been spent—spent as honestly as possible—but it has been a good investment because it sustained morale, strengthened confidence, and averted what might have been a major national crisis embracing a revolution.

Yet the contest at this anniversary celebration is too vivid to be overlooked. Eighty years ago the republican party, to which Lincoln gave his strength, his heart, and his soul, was brought into being in response to humanitarian impulses—the desire to abolish slavery. Eighty years later, the spokesman for the same organization was denouncing a national leadership which insisted governmental responsibility placed upon it the burden of feeding hungry men, women, and children. If this is a sample of the new leadership of the republican party, its cause is hopeless.

SALLY AND HER BUBBLES.

CHALK up another triumph for the little lady, Sally Rand. Just when it appeared that Sally was in danger of disappearing from the headlines, she comes forth with a new dance—and this time it is a bubble dance and not a fan. Her latest creation is said to be more naked and naughtier than her original offering.

Some day the public will tumble.

Without publicity, Sally's dance—a thing of beauty, a great artistic triumph—would be a flop. But an act, which is just beginning to be a little nauseating, cannot be a flop so long as a gullible public falls for the old press agent gag of threatened interference and of official disapproval. The first time that gag was pulled was in the Garden of Eden, and it has never failed to arouse interest since.

CRISIS IN AUSTRIA.

UNHAPPY Austria witnesses ominous events, which may make the next "big story" in Europe. Chancellor Dollfuss has now drawn all military and police power into his own hands for an offensive against, he says, the nazis of his country.

The home guard which valiantly supported Dollfuss in suppressing the socialists is being shelved gradually, and coolness seems to be growing between the factions. If the fascists who comprise the home guard join the opposition which already includes the nazis, socialists, communists and others, how long can Dollfuss rule?

Mussolini of Italy prays that the answer to that question will be an indefinite continuance of power for the diminutive dictator. Dollfuss in power means independence for Austria, which is important to Italy because a many mile wide buffer is retained between the land of the Romans and Germany.

Hitler of Germany, of course, hopes for the end of Dollfuss and the merger of the Germanic peoples of both Germany and Austria. France and England prefer the status quo.

Events of the near future may write the answer to the questions that surround Austria. Armed clashes and dynamite bombings have set the unhappy little country on edge. The horrible memory of the shelling of the socialist apartment houses in Vienna still lingers. Dollfuss' concentration of power appears to be a recognition of the impending crisis.

Austria has had no elections in recent times to indicate the true favor of the people. The world fears they will vote with blood instead of ballots, and sympathizes with a nation which suffered more economic and political demoralization than any other since the war.

NATURE TAKES A HAND.

ANNUALLY, America's wheat consumption is estimated at 625 million bushels. The estimates issued by the department of agriculture at Washington Tuesday, indicating a crop of 483 million bushels in 1934, the smallest on record in thirty-three years, falls short of the actual bread needs in this country by 142 million bushels. The exact size of the surplus, blamed for the farm troubles since the early '20s, is more or less a matter of conjecture. The agricultural department itself in the most recent figures released said surplus stocks of wheat on hand aggregated 265 milion bushels.

If that figure is correct, the meaning of the short crop is that before another harvest a destructive surplus in its effect upon prices will have been eliminated, for before another wheat crop can be harvested, the reserve stocks will be down to 123 million bushels—the smallest holdover since before the World war—and slightly below what is generally accepted as a reasonable margin of safety. In terms of bread, it represents less than three months supply for the United States. Big as it is, varied as it is in climate and in its farm program, certain as it is of producing some wheat each year within the limits of its far flung physical area, America should not gamble too recklessly on its wheat supply, but should always be in a position of having sufficient stocks on hand to tide it over every emergency.

What has been recognized since drouth conditions early in the spring presaged a disastrous wheat harvest by expert opinion now comes before the public generally. The wheat surplus ceases to exist. It has figured largely in national affairs since 1923. All of the difficulties besetting the farmer have been placed at its doorstep. The immediate response of the market was an advance in the price equalling the limit permitted. While many factors are to be considered, it is not impossible that wheat will be worth as much as $1.25 a bushel by January 1.

Nor can the consequences of drouth and the failure of the wheat harvest be limited solely to prices. They are certain to be reflected in a modification of the farm plan at Washington. For two years running now, production in this country has fallen short of consumption. In spite of the individual hardships of the loss of crops, a more philosophical view, and a sounder view economically would be to dismiss the short crops of the last two years as beneficial to the farmer in the long run. Nature has set up the pins so that the AAA no longer is confronted with the problem of so cutting wheat production as to eliminate a huge surplus. Its job from now on is to control production, a well nigh impossible task, considering the whimsical factors of rainfall and insect and fungus blights which cannot be determined. But at least, the mad craze to plant every available acre to wheat can be controlled. And that, in reality, got us into the mess. It was done patriotically back in those years during the war and immediately following when America had the job of feeding so many countries. The surplus is gone now and the opportunity exists for a speedy improvement in the farm program for the next span of years.

PAYING OFF CORN LOANS.

IT IS gratifying to learn that during the six weeks that have elapsed since the government ordered the release of corn under seal, Nebraska farmers have repaid corn loans in the approximate amount of a million dollars. It is said that about 2,000 releases have been ordered through the state railway commission, and that there have been about 100 partial releases, permitting the borrower to take out specified numbers of bushels upon payment of the amount of the loans made, with accrued interest.

Probably no feature of the government's relief program has been of more direct benefit to the farmers in the corn belt than the corn loan move. It gave the grower cash at a time he was sadly in need of it, and it thus enabled him to hold his corn until he was able to market it at a profit—a price much above that prevailing at the time the loans were made. And while the government invested a vast sum in this part of the recovery program, the indications are that practically all of it will be repaid, with some interest.

The outcome of this federal project is in striking contrast to the futile effort of the old farm board to stabilize or peg the price of wheat. In fact the difference in results have been so marked as to cause one to wonder at the effrontery of any defender of the previous administration in venturing to criticise any feature of the Roosevelt program.

The farm board paid out millions of dollars in elevator storage charges on wheat which it purchased, and did little if anything which benefited the producer of the wheat. In the end it was compelled to let go of the grain and if anybody except the elevator owners was any better off at the end of the experiment than before it started it was in such small measure as to be scarcely discernible.

As is well known to everyone the farmer still lacks a great deal of being over his difficulties, the unprecedented drouth having interposed to prolong the suffering; but he is in immeasurably better position than he would have been had it not been for the corn loans and other features of the administration recovery program.

NO NEED OF BALLYHOO.

JAMES A. MOFFET, selected to direct the housing program of the administration, is said to be inalterably opposed to any plan of ballyhoo. His attitude is commendable. Actually, more harm results than good whenever an attempt is made to overpublicize an undertaking.

The housing program itself does not need any such stimulation to make it attractive. Recent surveys have demonstrated there is an actual shortage of desirable rental properties. On top of that, American homes have been neglected badly for the last five years, and are greatly in need of repairs and improvements.

The whole success of the housing plan, upon which the administration relies so heavily, for business improvement hinges upon two factors. There must be that mental attitude on the part of the home owner which leads him to plan repairs or new construction, and, in addition, there must be the facility for credit. The housing plan is to be supported by private rather than by governmental agencies. While Washington guarantees private banking institutions or other financial establishments a portion of the loan made, the government itself does not advance the money. And it remains yet to be seen whether the banks will adopt a more generous policy of loans for home renovation and construction than has prevailed in recent years. Unless they do, there isn't much chance that the housing program will be of material assistance in relieving unemployment and in stimulating business.

Under those circumstances, Administrator Moffet would be putting his head in a noose were he to permit an enthusiastic ballyhoo to get under way.

QUESTION.
Raleigh, N. C.

Why do not all the churches and their ministers come out for good government?

ANSWER.

Because they are already out for it. There are no more intelligent, loyal and devoted citizens than the clergy of all denominations and their congregations. But you should realize that the substance of good government is not democracy, aristocracy, royalism or proletarianism. As Mr. Hyacinthe Ringrose remarks, "these are but artificial forms of human association." We do not choose to be self-governed because all other forms have no merit in them. In truth other forms of government do have their peculiar advantages, but ours works best for us.

Nations have flourished under liberal monarchies and declined under tyrannical republics. Alfred the Great of England and William the Silent of Holland will bear comparison with the later Dodges of Venice and a few farcical democratic rulers of some present-day South American countries.

Knowing this, the majority of my brethren of all the churches understand that good government is the lengthened shadow of good citizenship. Moreover, no political institutions and methods are more susceptible to both virtuous and vicious tendencies than those created by popular sovereignty. Washington was perfectly aware of this when he said: "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." In fact, the real burden of the accusation against present democracy is its selfish exploitation by those who adopt its profession as a mask for plundering the people.

Our Constitution presupposes honesty, integrity, justice and fair dealing. Yet it does not and cannot furnish these virtues, so it only endeavors to inculcate them. It was never meant for operation by selfish, vain or weak men. Nor could it have been retained by us save for the fearless defense and equally fearless criticism of its chief articles.

Criticism, I say, which when constructive is the searchlight every administration needs, even though it may not desire it. The things done in Washington and in the state legislatures are no longer promulgated in dark corners. They are the outcome of increased publicity and as such are offered to presumably free and intelligent constituents. Every American should therefore ask himself and herself: "Am I worthy of the splendid plan for an upright democracy bequeathed to me by its founders?" These are the matters advocated by the modern pulpit.

QUESTION.
Lexington, Ky.

Do you approve of any kind of killing of animals and birds for the sake of sport?

ANSWER.

I dislike it and also believe a change is gradually coming about in our views on this question. Killing animals and birds for food is one think, killing them for sport, even if they are destined for food, makes a difference which is at least debatable. But killing for mere sport only, as in the case of English fox hunting, is a pastime which seems to be losing ground.

An old huntsman tells us the fox enjoys the run as well as the hounds, that the fox despises the intelligence and speed of his pursuers, and believes he can leave or lose them whenever he likes. This, it is claimed, is where part of the sport comes in. There can be no doubt that Reynard is wily, and that all the stories about his cleverness in escaping the hounds are not pure inventions. But does that alter the conditions of the hunt? Does not the hunt consist in chasing an animal to its death and does not its death give some form of enjoyment to the hunters?

Then there is the stag hunt. "After being a hunting man for forty years," says one writer, "I gave up the sport because no one occasion when a red stag was kept at bay for twenty minutes he made such an agonized noise that I could not bear to witness what he was suffering." All humane people will sympathize with this confession. To them such sport is cruel, and to keep foxes and stags for the purpose of being hunted to death is a proceeding which needs more justification than I can invent.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

HOW INFECTION OF RINGWORM IS KEPT FROM SPREADING.

The prevention of ringworm infection of the skin is easier to accomplish than its successful treatment after it once has become implanted on the body. The most important form of prevention is individual prophylaxis — prevention of the spread of an infection from one part of a person's body to another.

Dr Clendening

It is easy to see that if you have an infection of the foot in the form of athlete's foot, and if it itches and you scratch it, it is very easy to get the fungus, which is the cause of the eruption, underneath the fingernails or on the fingernails. Then if one rubs other parts of the body with hands thus contaminated, the infection is spread to those parts. In this way, an infection on the foot may cause an eruption on the hands and under the armpits, and in nearly any part of the body.

The hands always should be very carefully washed after they have touched such an eruption, and be scrubbed with a scrub brush, which is then put for a moment or two in boiling water or allowed to soak in alcohol. Socks which have come in contact with ringworm eruption on the foot should be separated from other clothing and washed in a separate receptacle.

Soap is a good antiseptic for many things, but not for this particular fungus, and it often is advisable to dip the hands in alcohol or a 10 per cent formaldehyde solution after washing them.

The commonest method of spread of ringworm infection of the foot, or athlete's foot, is in the locker rooms of country clubs, golf courses, and especially in the shower baths near swimming pools. The fungus grows very well on moist surfaces, and one person with such an infection on the foot coming out, may spread it around the entire border of the pool.

In preventing such cross infection it is necessary to insist that everyone entering the pool or shower bath shall first disinfect the feet. This is done by dipping them in a solution which destroys the fungus, or standing on a rubber mat saturated with such a solution, until the bottom of the feet and the spaces between the toes are moistened.

In selecting the solution, it is desirable to remember that swimming pools usually are disinfected with chlorine. An antiseptic formula used for disinfecting feet in locker rooms is soduim thiosulphate, but sodium thiosulphate is a reducing agent, and if a 10 per cent solution is carried on the feet into the swimming pool, it rapidly reduces the available chlorine content of the pool.

For this reason, the best substance to use is a hypochlorite solution, which will augment rather than reduce the chlorine content of the pool. A solution containing five thousand parts per million available chlorine as a foot bath, and a solution containing five hundred parts per million available chlorine for disinfecting mats, walks and other equipment, is available on the market in the form of calcium hypochlorite solution, sold under the trade name of H. T. H.

GRANDMOTHER'S PARLOR

The little old parlor my grandmother kept
Was carefully dusted and tidied and swept.
The curtains were drawn so the sun couldn't shine
On the roses that made up the carpet design.
The chairs and the sofa were covered with sheets
To keep out the dust that might blow from the streets.

My grandmother's parlor was never on view
Except to the grandest of people she knew.
Though deeply she loved us, she said, I recall,
That parlors weren't open for children at all.
Besides, as she often remarked to us, she Kept nothing in there for the children to see.

At Christmas the door was flung wide and with awe
Our grandmother's proudest possessions we saw.
The great Holy Bible red-plushed, on a stand,
A glittering painting of water and stand,
Straight chairs with the shiny black hair-cloth like new
Were the treasures which we were permitted to view.

Now we haven't a parlor. Our two youngsters race
Helter-skelter, unbridled all over the place.
And I wonder today could my grandmother see
The change that has come to this world and to me,
As she noticed our best things being used every day,
Just what would she think and just what would she say.

CALAMITIES OF NATURE TAKING TOLL IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, July 11—(AP)—China's age-old enemies, flood, famine, drouth, locusts, heat and cholera, again are taking their toll as the hottest summer of more than 60 years sears the country.

In the lower Yangtze valley and the coastal provinces extreme temperatures, drouth and locusts have threatened food supplies and caused death.

Further westward floods and cholera are added to calamities besieging western China.

Crops in numerous provinces are perishing from flood or heat while food prices are sky-rocketing. Fear of famine is widespread. Rice has leaped 50 per cent in price.

It is true that women and children get impudent and bossy if you are good to them. Also men.

Every proud free man sees red when ordered to do anything by anybody, unless she smiles.

But no boob would give the hat check girl two bits if he could see the fat alien who gets the money.

Another advantage of being rich is that you aren't ashamed to count your change.

Middle class: The one that is too poor to pay for hospital service and too rich to get it for nothing.

An enemy has one advantage over a friend. People don't snub him any worse when they get rich.

If you don't know what managed currency is, listen to relatives when a widow gets her life insurance.

Europe considers Mrs. Roosevelt Mr. Roosevelt really runs things.

The millions seem determined to the typical American woman, but get something for nothing, whether they use shoestring margins or thumbs.

Americanism: Complaining because your income isn't enough to live on; spending part of it for fat reducers.

A news photo shows that General Johnson's thumbs lean backward. Pressing down on little things will do it.

But why are they hitch hikers when they neither hitch nor hike?

Only males destroy their young, but it isn't Dad who insists that the kids should have a car.

Men don't live longer. They still live about 40 years, and after that they just stay here.

The nice way to soak the rich is to sell them national bonds and pay them off with dollars worth a dime.

Boil it down and the chief objection to the relief worker is that he has a job others want.

You can't get rich by limiting production and charging the few too much—unless you're a power company.

Life is a struggle for only forty years or so, after that you just coast on your habits.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

A Difficult Moment

You'll find for all the time arrives
When on themselves depend their lives.

—Mrs. Peter Rabbit.

Wigglenose, the smartest of Peter Rabbit's children, sat motionless on the end of an old log in the Old Pasture and watched Bowser the Hound chase his mother. He saw her try to fool him with the old trick of puzzle-your-nose which she had taught him when they played in the dear old Briar-patch, and now he understood why she had taught him and his brothers and sisters that game. At the time he had thought it just a game. Now he know that it had been a lesson, a most important lesson that sometime might be the means of saving his life.

"She didn't fool him very long," thought Wigglenose, "but it was long enough for her to rest a bit I wonder what she will do now. Oh, dear, I do hope he won't catch her!"

The sound of Bowser's voice grew less and less loud. This meant that Mrs. Peter was leading him farther and farther away. Wigglenose felt easier in his mind. It had been rather dreadful having that Dog so near. "She will fool him and then come back to me," thought he. "She is leading him away so that I will not be frightened."

But presently the sound of that great voice seemed coming nearer It steadily grew louder Wigglenose wanted to jump down from that log and hide. But mother had told him not to move and he had already learned the value of obedience. So he continued to sit motionless as she had told him to. That great voice grew louder and louder. It filled Wigglenose with terror, the greater because mother was not at hand, and he felt very small and very helpless. It was coming from behind him now instead of from the direction in which Mrs Peter and Bowser had disappeared. You see, Mrs. Peter was running in a big circle and now was coming back to the place she had started from, but from the opposite direction.

Presently he heard the patter of light feet just a few feet away. She stopped for an instant. "Remember what I told you and don't move," she warned him. Then she was off again.

In a few minutes along came Bowser, his nose to Mrs. Peter's trail. He came along close to that old log where Wigglenose sat in plain sight. It was a difficult moment. It seemed to Wigglenose that he simply must jump and run. It seemed the only thing to do. But mother had said not to move, so he didn't move. At the place where mother had stopped. Bowser lifted his head and bayed. He seemed to look straight at Wigglenose, but didn't see him. If he saw anything at all it was merely a little brown lump on the end of the log. Then he ran on after Mrs. Peter.

Yes, indeed that had been a difficult moment for Wigglenose, a very difficult moment. He hadn't fully realized it, but just for that moment his life had depended wholly on himself. Had he moved ever so little, and you know how he wanted to run, had felt that he must run, Bowser would have seen him. But he had been told not to move and he hadn't moved. Now Bowser was once more lost to view among the bushes as he chased Mrs. Peter.

He breathed easier now and once more began to turn things over in his mind. "That Dog passed close to me and didn't see me at all. No sir, he just didn't see me," thought he Then he remembered how his brothers and sisters had passed right by mother when they were at play, not seeing her and she sat on a log in plain view, and suddenly he understood why she had played the game of bump-on-a-log with them.

"It was another lesson," he chuckled. "It was another lesson and we didn't know it. I do believe mother brought that Dog right past here close on purpose so that I would understand, or else to try me out and see how well I had learned to mind. I wonder what she will do next."

Cortland Veterinarian Ends Life With Shotgun; Fifty Engineers At Work On Sutherland Job

DR. ROBERTSON IS FOUND DEAD

Arises Early Wednesday Morning and Shoots Self In Heart.

(Special to The Star.)

CORTLAND, July 11—Dr. John S. Robertson, 45, veterinarian here for 20 years, took his own life with a shotgun at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

County Attorney Ernest Hubka of Gage county, who investigated, said, "It is a clear case of suicide. There will be no inquest."

Leaving his home suddenly at shortly after 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, Dr. Robertson apparently went to his garage to get his .410 gauge shotgun and then went to the basement of the Schuyler Hatchery in the east section of town and shot himself through the heart. His office is in this building, which he owns. He was part owner of the hatchery business, also.

The county attorney said he apparently put the butt of the gun on the floor, leaned over it and then pulled the trigger. He was killed instantly.

No motive could be learned for the act.

The body was found by Deputy Sheriff James Cauthers, who was called by Mrs. Robertson. Mrs. Robertson was alarmed at her husband's absence and Cauthers found the body at about 5 o'clock.

Dr. Robertson was born in Canada, but came to the United States when he was only one year old. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Robertson, live at Crete.

His wife, Edna; a daughter, Maxine; a sister, Mrs. James McDaniels of Lincoln; and two brothers, Gilbert of Lincoln and Earl of Wyoming, also survive. The body is at Hodgman's mortuary in Lincoln.

John Pesek Resort Building Is Burned

(Special to The Star.)

RAVENNA, eb., July 11— Fire completely destroyed the 1 arge "Boat House" being built by John Pesek, wrestler and dog fancier. The structure was being built in the shape of a steamship, and was well along toward completion. It was to have rooms for dwelling and a larke deck for a dance platform. Located on the Potash highway near the Loup river bridge south of town, it attracted much attention from those who passed that way.

Franchise Refused To Power Company

M'COOK, Neb., July 11—(AP)—The McCook city council has refused to consider a proposition to grant the Nebraska Light & Power company a five-year contract in return for reduced rates. In refusing the proposition members of the council said that with the Sutherland project pending, the city would be handicapped if unable to take advantage of any of its benefits. The council also voted a 10 per cent reduction of water rates.

BEET CROP FOR STATE REDUCED

Probable That Islands Will Be Granted Larger Quotas.

WASHINGTON, July 11 - (AP) — Nebraska is one of the five best sugar producing states where a yield below the five year average is forecast in agricultural department estimates

California, Montana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin are expected to top the five year average. Besides Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Wyoming will be under.

In Nebraska, the estimate shows a reduction in acreage from 90,000 last year to 78,000 this year and an anticipated reduction in production from 1,067,000 tons last year to 760,000 tons this year. The five year average in Nebraska is 1,028,000 tons.

An estimated 1934 crop of 7,902,000 short tons of sugar beets as compared with 7,854,000 short tons for 1927-31 period in the nation is forecast. The 1933 production was 11,030,000 short tons.

The department estimates the 1934 crop at about 70.8 per cent of normal, indicating the continental beet sugar producers will fall below the 1,550,000 tons sugar quota established in the Costigan-Jones sugar control act. This probably will mean a increase in the allocations allowed for off-shore producers in order to meet the estimated consumption of 6,476,000 tons for this year.

Plan Enforcement Labor Provisions Of NRA Columbus

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 10—(AP)—Preparations have been began here for a checkup and closer enforcement of NRA labor provisions. Roy M. Brewer, state labor compliance officer and head of the NRA enforcement division for Nebraska accompanied by Field Adjuster Gilbert W. Melcher, general NRA representative for this district, came here Tuesday and conferred with merchants relative to setting up code authority groups. The two officials met with the retail food and grocers trade group and Brewer outlined the duties of this organization. John R. Luschen is chairman of the group. Melcher has established headquarters here and will receive complaints of non-compliance.

Scribner Employment Problem Is Solved For Several Months

WASHINGTON, July 11— (AP) — Secretary Ickes believes the employment situation in Scribner, Neb., is solved for five months. He said Scribner officials have asked him to postpone for 60 days the start of work on a $15,000 PWA waterworks project there because all the unemployed in Scribner now are working on a highway project. Ickes gave permission to postpone beginning operation on the water project for that length of time and said after that the "unemployed" will be put to work on the water project for three more months.

Today

Mr. Bryant Would Jump

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

In Alberta's huge Jasper park, Fred Brewster, a Rocky mountain guide, watches eagles and ospreys, also called "fish hawks," sitting on the high limbs of a tree, eagles at the top, ospreys below, and still lower down plain crows, all watching the lake.

An osprey drops, brings up a fish. Two eagles pursue, the frightened osprey drops the fish. The eagles try to catch it, usually fail. The crows, flying close to the surface, in a body, never fail, always get the falling fish and enjoy it.

There you have our civilization upside down. With us, those nearest the ground get the least, those next above get a little more, and those at the very top get practically everything.

Perhaps we can change that situation in the "new era" as the birds have changed it in far away Alberta, and enable those near the ground to get the big share, the semi-little men a trifle higher up the next biggest share, while the eagle men on the top branch, almost starve to death. Genuinely earnest "cracking down" might accomplish that.

J. Pierpont Morgan of Broad and Wall streets ordered his big yacht Corsair to his front door on East island, and will cross for a short vacation in England.

Once such a trip might have aroused envy, but no more. The traveling salesman, the "lady buyer" for a department store, almost anybody may cross on a bigger, faster, finer boat than the Corsair at a very reasonable price.

The wise socialism is that which gives to the big crowd bigger and better ships, parks and hotels than any individual, no matter how rich, could afford for himself.

Also, among Americans of the right kind, a man and woman take pride in improving their own little house or boat, wasting no time in foolish envyy of others. There is no real happiness of possession, except in what we earn and what we have.

Everything would run smoothly if all the United States representatives and senators felt as G. Bryant of West Virginia, feels. A candidate for congress, his platform reads:

"I am behind President Roosevelt all the way. I'll jump off the top of the Washington monument if he wants me to."

A solid house and senate like that would make Fascism unnecessary.

Mr. Bryant, educated as a civil engineer once a professional newspaper man, recently "operator of peanut and popcorn stands," knows what depression means, and says:

"I am entering the campaign without a dime, and will be compelled to hitch-hike and 'thumb' my way around."

We learn from adversity.

Nebraska's Potato Crop Is Estimated Larger Than In 1933

WASHINGTON, July 11— (AP) — Nebraska expects a bigger potato crop than last year, although the western potato states on the whole will show a decrease, the department of agriculture estimates.

The Nebraska crop for 1934 is estimated at 9,072,000 bushels compared with 8,625,000 last year. The 1927-31 average, however, was 9,404,000 bushels in Nebraska.

The nation's 1934 crop is estimated at 348,092,000 bushels, 95.2 per cent of the average for the 1927-31 period, but an increase of 17,639,000 bushels over 1933. The estimate for western states is for a decrease from 72,572,000 bushels grown last year to 66,145,000.

MYERS ASSERTS FARMERS PAYING

Believes Few Will Resort To New Bankruptcy Act.

OMAHA, Neb., July 11—(AP)—Headed into the drouth territory to study farm conditions, Governor W. I. Myers of the farm credit administration predicted here today a "very small minority" of farmers will have to go into bankruptcy under the Frazier-Lemke act to save their homes.

With George M. Brennan, federal intermediate credit bank commissioner, and S. M. Garwood, production credit commissioner, Myers is touring the midwest to get a first hand view, he said, of the drouth situation and the general farm credit picture. The party is scheduled to leave tonight for Cheyenne.

Myers disclosed here that "today or tomorrow the FCA will pass the billion dollar mark in land bank and commissioner loans, all made since June 1, 1933, and now being closed at the rate of $150,000,000 a month."

"As a result of the general recovery during the past year," he added, "and the loans of the federal land banks and the land bank commissioner, the great majority of distressed farm mortgage cases have been relieved.

"Farmers as a class are very slow to ttake bankruptcy, and my experience gives me confidence that they still retain the ever-present urge to pay their debts. More than 86 percent of the installments on land bank commissioner loans, which have generally been made to the most heavily indebted farmers—which matured prior to June 1, were paid on or before they were due.

"Of those which are delinquent, two-thirds are for less than 30 days. This shows even the most heavily indebted farmers are acting in the highest good faith."

Eighth district directors called to confer with Myers here included: Chancellor E. A. Burnett of the University of Nebraska; Fletcher Alguire, Sioux Falls, S. D.; A. M. Haskell, Huron, S. D.; W. J. Lewis, Harlan, Ia.; Dr. J. R. Hilton, Douglas, Wyo., and F. S. Caffrey, Scottsbluff, Neb.

Supposed Wedding No Wedding At All

FALLS CITY, Neb., July 11—(AP)—County Judge Virgil Falloon is looking for a Kansas man and a woman presumably living together as a maried couple without the sanction of legal wedlock, despite their own ideas on the subject.

They got a wedding license here last week. This week the judge received the filled out certificate showing that the marriage ceremony had been performed for them Sunday at Hiawatha, Kas. But since the license was good only in Richardson county, Neb., Judge Falloon wants the two to return here for a bona fide wedding.

NEW FERA WORKER.

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 11—(AP)—Mrs. C. D. Evans, jr., has been appointed FERA worker in Platte county, following separation of the FERA relief office and the county welfare office. Mrs. E. W. Johnson, welfare worker here the past six years, previously handled the FERA work.

$681,000,000 Gain In U. S. Tax Income Past Fiscal Year

Over Third of Increase From Gasoline and Liquor Collections.

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP)—Exhilaration and acceleration made tax collectors happier in the fiscal year ended June 30.

Two liquids—alcoholic drinks and gasoline—boosted revenues.

Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, reported that tax income, excluding processing taxes, rose $681,253,989 over the preceding year. Gasoline and liquor collections accounted for more than a third the gain.

With the processing taxes included, collections aggregated $2,672,318,602, an increase of $1,052,479,377.

Taxes collected on spirits, wines and beers were estimated at over $200,000,000 on the basis of receipts to May 31, with gasoline taxes around $80,000,000.

All States Turn in More.

All states turned in more taxes, but the processing levies made the gain most noticeable in the agricultural states. South Carolina collections jumped from $1,733,731 to $20,571,645, and in Alabama, Georgia, Minnesota, Montana and North Dakota, tax collections more than tripled.

These processing taxes will be paid out to producers co-operating with the agricultural adjustment administration in its reduction progress.

Income taxes poured the tidy sum of $817,303,457 into the coffers, a gain of $70,512,053.

Corporation returns accounted for $397,737,681 of this and individual returns for $419,565,776.

WORK STARTING ON SUTHERLAND

Money Turned Over Tuesday and Engineers Placed In Field.

OMAHA, July 11—(AP)— Transfer of the first $498,795 of the $7,500,000 the PWA is to furnish for development of the Sutherland power and irrigation project, was acomplished in Omaha Thursday afternoon. O. P. Cordill, asistant cashier of the Omaha branch, Federal Reserve bank, handed Daniel J. Monen, trust officer of the Omaha National bank, a certificate of credit for the nearly half a million dollars.

The Omaha National bank is trustee for the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation district. W. R. Maloney of North Platte, treasurer of the district, was a spectator at the transfer.

Maloney later said engineering work was to get underway immediately. The fund transferred to the district's trustee represents the first requisition of funds with accrued interest from May 1, when the debenture bonds were issued. It will be used for surveys, completing right of way purchases and initial supplies, Maloney said.

Fifty engineers were to go to work Wednesday on the project, he added. As the work progresses the engineering staff will be increased to about 200. The district hopes to be able to let the first contract the first of September. It will be for construction of the Sutherland reservoir, to cost about two million dollars, Maloney said.

More than 2,000 men will be employed on the project when it is in full sway. The work will require from 18 months to two years, engineers estimate. The irrigation project extends a distance of 55 miles from Keystone to North Platte. The power plant will be constructed just south of North Platte.

ERECT MONUMENT TO CRAZY HORSE

CRAWFORD, Neb., July 11—(AP)—Crazy Horse, famous Sioux Indian chief, will be honored by a monument constructed to his memory at Fort Robinson, near here. Construction has begun under the direction of Maj. E. N. Hardy, fort commander. A celebration dedicating the monument is scheduled for Labor day, and wll be sponsored by civic clubs.

Crazy Horse was killed near the spot where the monument is being erected, Sept. 5, 1877. Stone for the monument is being cut from native granite in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

PRUNING MADE ON JOBLESS LIST

12,000 Names Taken Off Registration Rolls In Nebraska.

Nebraska's unemployment registrations took a substantial drop in June, the first since the federal reemployment service was established last fall, Francis V. Cornell, re-employment director, said Wednesday.

Rechecking of unemployment registrations and elimination of inactive cards from files accounted for the decrease of approximately 12,000 from the 79,975 registrations on file May 31 to 67,208 June 30. Postcard inquiries were sent all registered unemployed and those who did not indicate an interest in having their registration continued were dropped from the active list.

Placements during June totaled 10,006, of which number 6,661 found jobs on PWA projects and 3,345 were given employment in private industry.

Although June re-employment figures showed a decrease under those for May, a considerable number of unemployed found work without the aid of the re-employment service, which was reflected in the decrease of unemployment registrations. May re-employment was 7,174 on PWA work and 4,837 placements in private industry.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT FIRED BY BROTHER IS FATAL TO BOY

CRAWFORD, Neb., July 11—(AP)—Leo Dubois, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dubois, died at a hospital here Tuesday night from injuries received Monday morning when he was shot accidentally by his 11 year old brother, Stanley.

They were playing rustler as they drove cattle from the yards and Stanley as the "rancher" went to the house for a .22 rifle which he supposed was unloaded. The bullet passed through the lung of the younger boy, just missing his heart.

college for four years. In 1884 he was made director of the Nebraska weather service, a post which he held until 1896. In 1894 he came to Lincoln where he became a gvoernment meteorologist, and two years later he was made professor of astronomy at the University of Nebraska.

He was married to Miss Mary Frances Hill at Beloit, Wis., on August 7, 1884. Mrs. Swezey died while they lived at Crete. Two other daughters survive, Miss Emma Josephine Swezey of Los Angeles, and Miss Marien Frances of Gary, Ind.

Founder of Sigma Xi.

Prof. Swezey was a member of the American Astronomical society and of the Nebraska Academy of Science. He was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi and with the faculty club of the university. He was a Y. M. C. A. member and for many years was a trustee of Vine Congregational church. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and of Sigma Xi and was one of the founders of Sigma Xi on the Nebraska campus.

He was a prolific writer, writing for numerous farm and scientific magazines. He wrote numerous books on astronomy, the most poplaf being "Practical Exercises in Astronomy." He wrote many books and treatises on agriculture and geology as well as records of many scientific meetings he attended.

In the little observatory on the west edge of the campus, Prof. Swezey conducted almost all of the astronomy classes which the university scheduled. His little classroom was also his office and the walls were lined with charts and books which he never tired of explaining to students.

Tragedy of a Telescope.

For years he gave popular night lectures which were widely attended by the general public. One of the chief tragedies of his life was his telescope. The one he had was small and when, years ago, he was given money to buy another, he was overjoyed.

He purchased the glass for the new one in Jena, Germany, perfect glass for a 12-inch instrument, as compared to the old 4-inch one. The new telescope was too large for the old observatory, however, and although funds were once appropriated for a new building, it was never constructed.

And now, the telescope still stands gathering dust, still crated, in one of the university basements.

He was always a familiar figure on the campus, riding a bicycle to and from his classes, but not many of the students in the last generation knew of the care the little man gave his three daughters, daughters he reared, cared for and educated after the death of his wife. During most of the time he lived in Lincoln he had a room at the Y. M. C. A.

Chancellor E. A. Burnett, when informed of his death, declared his loss to be a great one to the state. "He was a man of fine influence on the campus, he was highly respected and a splendid teacher."

No funeral arrangements have been announced and it is not known whether the body will be brought here.

OLD RESIDENT DIES.

RED CLOUD, Neb., July 11—Mrs. Mary Jane Barker, 81, long time resident of this locality, died at her home here Monday following a long illness. Internment was made in the city cemetery here Wednesday.

NEBRASKA'S U. S. TAXES INCREASE

Growth Shows In All Branches As Compared With Year Ago.

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP)—Nebraska payments to the internal revenue bureau increased nearly $6,500,000 during the fiscal year ending July 1, with $4,533,610 in agricultural adjustment taxes accounting for about two-thirds of the increase.

Total federal tax collections in Nebraska for the last fiscal year amounted to $10,302,977, compared with $3,863,482 the preceding year. Income tax receipts increased from $2,357,000 to $2,631,000 and miscellaneous taxes aside from the processing taxes, from $1,506,000 to $3,138,000.

More than half of the $2,672,318,602 received from federal taxation for the fiscal year was collected in five of the forty-eight states. New York, North Carolina, Illinois, Pennsylvania and California. Eleven states contributel les than one per cent of the federal tax yield. Only six states, Arizona, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan and Virginia, failed to show an increase in income tax payments.

GAME LAW VIOLATIONS.

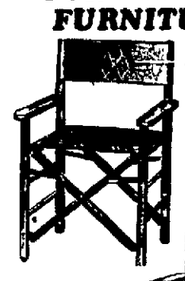

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., July 11—Everett Colson of the Humboldt vicinity Tuesday began serving out a $25 fine and costs on a charge of having a turtle dove in his possession, Lewis Wells of the same neighborhood at the same time beban serving a $10 fine and costs on a charge of fishing without a license. The arrests were made by Charles R. Butler, deputy state game warden.

National Drops Verdict to Stars of Rival Loop

Hubbell's Brilliant Hurling Only Bright Spot for Losing Club

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, July 11—(INS)—They used to talk about the late Rube Waddell calling in his fielders and retiring the side unaided, although as far as the major leagues were concerned this was sheer fiction, designed to entertain stunted adult minds. They still remember Matty's pitching up in Boston in that final game of the 1912 series just before and immediately after Merkle and Snodgrass put the finger on the great master. There was also the time that Alexander went in with a cold arm in the 1926 series to fan Lazzerri with three on for the final out, not to mention countless cases of pinch-pitching that both clutter and adorn the records.

After Hubbell Came Disaster.

But all seemed pale and insipid by contrast with Carl Hubbell's successive strikeouts of Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons and Cronin in the first and second innings of yesterday's all-star major league game at the Polo Grounds. It hardly mattered that the American league ultimately beat the National league out of a comical ball game, 9 to 7, for the second straight year. As a matter of fact, after Hubbell delivered his epic performance, nothing mattered. We had witnessed the historic. The rest was anti-climax.

Thumbing back through the pages of memory, I recalled Hod Eller's six straight strikeouts, against the White Sox in 1919. But, then, some of them weren't trying and none had quite the class of the great trinity that strode to the plate with two on and none out yesterday and were blown down like wheat in a wind.

Sluggers Helpless.

To reconstruct the scene, Gehringer opened the game with a single, took second on Berger's fumble and Manush walked. Both advanced on a double steal, Traynor making a weak play on Gehringer at third. Then up stepped Ruth. He stood with feet wide spread and his bat only half-cocked, as a screw ball broke down across the plate for a third strike. Gehrig took his three swings and sat down. Foxx managed to nick one back into under the press coop, but that was all. He swung, too, at a third one, almost falling on his face with the effort. Not even a vociferous foul for the recognized big three of all sluggers.

I doubt whether any pitcher that baseball ever knew has shown the equal of that effort. Nor was that all.

Starting the next inning, Simmons and Cronin fanned without getting the most minute piece of the ball and Bill Dickey had two strikes before he got the second foul in this magnificent continuity, another little pop back into the stands. He then singled sharply to left, after which Hubbell claimed his sixth strikeout victim of two innings, Gomez, to round out the record. He retired after holding the American league hitless and runless in the third.

All Over For National.

When Hubbell went, the ball game was over for the National league. It had hit Gomez for four runs, including homers by Frisch and Medwick. But neither Lon Warneke of Chicago nor Van Mungo of Brooklyn had much more than a petition and the winners scored twice in the fourth and six times in the fifth to claim the victory almost beyond recall.

Warneke seemed to have Ruth struck out to open the fifth, but Pfirman was looking the other way and after Ruth and Gehrig walked, the Cub star, obviously distressed by Mr. Pfirman's vision, was lifted in favor of Mungo. Obviously, too, it wasn't a ball game that Manager Terry was quite as keen on winning as Manager Cronin seemed to be.

The latter, for instance, got great pitching from Mel Harder and kept him in to the end. Terry got great pitching from Hubbell, but took him out. Hubbell is Manager Terry's own pitcher; Harder was somebody else's. So Manager Cronin conducted himself accordingly. He was so set on winning the game that he wouldn't break up a winning combination, exen to the extent of using a .355 hitter. Higgins, for an inning or two at third base.

Mungo Easy for Americans.

Anyhow, Mungo had nothing but the general idea and, by the time the National league got Dizzy Dean into action, the ball game had been decently interred.

For an all-star game, it was a very silly thing, all told. Barring Hubbell, the advertised stars were a big, reverberating bust. Ruth just didn't figure at all. Gehrig fanned three times. Foxx got one legitimate single and a very spurious double in a high fly that fell safe at Klein's lagging feet in short left field.

Part of the silliness, it seemed to me, involved the playing of Klein in the sun field, where he was palpably ill at ease. Manager Terry could have used Paul Waner there, but Manager Terry didn't seem greatly impressed with the importance of the situation. He didn't even have a pitcher warming up when Mungo was being mauled for six runs in the fifth and, when Frankhouse, another pitcher, was due to open the ninth, the National league found that it had exhausted every pinch-hitter. In fact, it had played its hand so badly that when Frisch wanted to leave the game, Terry had to ask Cronin to ignore the rules in order to allow Billy Herman, who had batted himself out of the line-up in the early innings, to finish the game at second base.

That Kind of Game.

However, it was strictly that kind of a pastime. Gehringer not only missed a stab at Ott in the fifth, but made no attempt to tag him after he had overslid the bag Meantime, a run crossed the plate without drawing a throw. Chapman dropped a line drive right in his hands; Frisch dropped a fly ball, after waving everybody away. The National league pitchers fanned 12 in seven innings, but walked nine. Cronin forgot the hit-and-run was on, with the count three and two on Averill in the sixth, and found Cochrane coming, hot-foot, into second base, Terry allowed Mungo to pitch the fifth with Hartnett catching him, instead of his regular catcher, Lopez.

Altogether, it was probably the worst exhibition of ineptitude and, in some cases, stupidity yet vouchsafed by the sterling athletes of the diamond. And with the crumbling of the advertised stars, Cleveland and St. Louis more or less stole the show.

Cleveland furnished Averill, who trippled in the fourth, scoring one, and doubled in the fifth, scoring two. Also Harder, who relieved Ruffing in the fith an dheld the opposition to one hit the rest o the way.

As for the St. Louis pair, Frisch asd Medwick hit the only home runs of the game. They also drove in four runs between them, in addition to which Frisch scored three and Medwick two. Outside of tnat, they were just, plain pitiful.

"Doc" McLean Works On Pitcher's Wing

Wilcy Moore, for many years a major league hurler and one of the heroes of the 1927 world series, worked out with the Lincoln club at Landis yard Tuesday evening. Moore, now with Kansas City in the American Association, has been in Lincoln for treatment by "Doc" McLean, University of Nebraska trainer, for an over-riding ligament in his salary arm shoulder. He was expected to leave for Kansas City Wednesday night, having been pronounced as "on the mend" by McLean.

Simmons Fans as Hubbell Baffles Sluggers.

This Associated Press picture shows Al Simmons of the Chicago White Sox as he missed a third strike and became the fourth of six American league sluggers to be fanned by Carl Hubbell of the Giants in the first two innings of baseball's midseason classic, the all-star game in New York Simmons later found his batting eye and became the only star of the game to get three hits.

LINKS PUT OVER SWEEP OF SERIES

Capital City Clan Picks On Blues for Three Straight Wins.

SIOUX FALLS HERE TONIGHT.

With the first-half pennant safely tucked away, Lincoln's galloping Links take on Sioux Falls in the first of a three-game series at Landis Field Wednesday evening at 8.30. It will inaugurate the second-half campaign and Nelson Potter is due to wing for the Griffins. All ladies will be admitted free.

The first half champions Lincoln, watched an early lead dwindle to nothing, then saw the score mount the other way, and came back to score a narrow 11-10 victory over Beatrice at Landis Field Tuesday evening in the series finale. It gave Lincoln a clean sweep of the three-game series.

Beatrice scored three runs in the first, but Lincoln took the lead in the same inning. A cluster of seven base hits, one a double by Lobaugh, plus Joerndt's center-field error, handed the Capital City clan six runs. Another in the third made it appear that the ball game was in Lincoln's victory bag, but the Blues had other intentions.

The Brookhaus outfit assaulted Lefty Dunkle for four runs in the fifth to tie the count, but Lincoln went ahead again in the same stanza, singles by Genzlinger and Dunkle and Brookhaus' error bringing "Genny" across the platter.

Seats In for Dunkle.

Dunkle hit the path to the showers in the eighth and Tom Seats, another left-hander, took over the burden. Two walks, a wild pitch and two defense errors put the Blues ahead by a 10-9 tally but Lincoln again came through, a walk to Morehouse, Zimmerman's vicious right-field double and Callahan's triple to left sending two runs across

Aside from some snappy fielding by Genzlinger, the game was dull and uninteresting It was one of the longest of the year, and some nine fielding errors failed to excite the crowd's enthusiasm. Dunkle, after coming to life and hurling good ball in the sixth and seventh, was forced to retire after pitching to one batsman in the eighth due to a cut pitching hand Dunkle was victim of an inconsiderate trodding by Pete Filbert in a close play at first base

Center-fielder Swinger did the hurling duties for Beatrice and momentarily seemed as if he might depart with a victory. Score.

VERDICT TO FALCO IN NEW YORK RING

NEW YORK, July 11—(INS)—Tony Falco met tough Bobby Pacho of Los Angeles last night and came of with nary a K. O. clinging to his jaw and minus the usual "shanty" the tiny Mexican hangs on important eyes. Barney Ross could not escape one, but Falco did.

The Philadelphian got the unanimous decision at the Coney Island velodrome after a savage 10-round fight. It was a whale of a battle, with all dull moments ruled out.

Pacho lost considerable blood from a severe cut high up on his forehead, the result of an accidental butt in the third round. Those in his corner seemed no more able to stop the flow than was poor Jimmy De Forest the night Firpo received the same sort of a cut in his fight with Bill Brennan in the old Garden.

Cowboys Advance To Tie With Leaders Before 6,400 Crowd.

DES MOINES, July 11—(AP)—Unique in the annals of organized baseball, three teams today had tied for the first-half championship of the Western league. St. Joseph, 1933 titleholder, Des Moines and Sioux City were involved in the triple tie, the result of one of the most exciting pennant races baseball's oldest minor league has ever seen.

From the start of the season, no team was able to secure a commanding lead and during the past week the three winners fought neck-and-neck, with none able to push out in front.

Sioux City's finish was the most remarkable of the three The Cowboys brought their victory streak to 10 games last night by defeating Topeka in a doubleheader, 3 to 2 and 5 to 4, before 6,400 fans, largest league crowd of the season.

Demons Trim Islanders.

Des Moines defeated Rock Island, 5 to 2, but only after a stubborn fight. Ralph Sams pitched brilliantly for the Demons

Omaha's Packers gave St. Joseph a terrific battle, the Saints finally winning, 13 to 11, in a free-scoring game, the result of which was not certain until the final out.

Cedar Rapids knocked off Davenport, 7 to 6, when Wilson stepped in to stop a five-run Blue Sox rally in the ninth.

The three leading teams won 36 and lost 23 during the first half, the playoff for which will be at the end of the season.

HOME TALENT IN FIRST POSITION

Two Oklahoma Youths Set Pace In Twin Hills Tounament.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 11—(AP)—A pair of young home stars who crept within two strokes of par 70 on the difficult Twin Hills course after 18 holes, pointed the way today for the field starting the second qualifying round of the thirty-annual western amateur golf tournament.

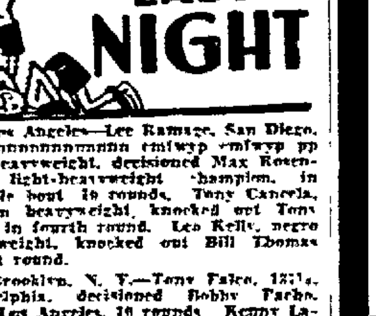

The two were Zell Eaton, local shotmaker who was 1933 medalist in three tournaments, and Bob Conliff, Jr., 27-year old Oklahoma City lad who is unknown outside Oklahoma.

They headed a field of 33 players who had 79s or bette rand were a stroke in front of two of the most formidable of the visitors, Rodney Bliss of Omaha and Leland Hamman of Waco, Tex., newly crowned trans-Mississippi titleist.

A stroke behind and tied for fifth place with 74s were Ed White of Bonham, Tex., runnerup in the 1934 national intercollegiate, and another unknown local, 17-year old Lucien (Red) McLaughlin.

Such golfers as Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., of Chicago, who held the title eight times, and Johnny Lehman of Chicago, 1930 champion, were forced to bow to the course with 81 and 80, respectively, and were given only outside chances to come through the second round today.

High scores indicated that the outside limit to enter the match play, which begins Wednesday night, range anywhere between 155 and 158.

At Los Angeles—Lee Ramage, San Diego, Cal., heavyweight, decisioned Max Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion, in non-title bout 10 rounds. Tony Cancela, Mexican heavyweight, knocked out Tony Souza, in fourth round. Leo Kelly, negro middleweight, knocked out Bill Thomas in first round.

STARS DISCUSS DIAMOND CLASH

Players Outline Views of Proceedings at Polo Ball Yard.

NEW YORK, July 11 — (INS)—Here's what the leading lights of yesterday's all-star game at the Polo Grounds had to say today regarding the annual classic:

Joe Cronin—It was a sweet one to win. Mel Harder deserves a lot of credit.

Bill Terry—Well, that's over. I'm glad the Giants don't have to play that outfit every day. Maybe Freddy Frankhouse would have been better relief choice in the fifth

"Pie" Traynor (to Terry) — What'll you take for Hubbell? I could win a pennant with him

Mel Ott—I thought we were going to beat those so-and-sos.

Walter Johnson—No pitcher could stand up against these batting orders for nine innings and not get hurt.

"Casey" Stengel—I felt right at home. I get that in Brooklyn every day. Get off to a lead and then see it disappear.

Jimmy Foxx—What does that guy Hubbell throw. I'd like to see it some time. He ought to include a diagram with every pitch.

Babe Ruth—The old man forgot to swing where the ball was. But how'd you like that fifth inning? It looked like they'd never get our gang out.

Favors Three-Inning Games.

Carl Hubbell—Pitching would be an easy job if they had three-inning games. Yes, I did throw more screw balls than usual. Against those hitters, you've got to come through with the Sunday pitch pretty accurately.

Lon Warneke—I had Ruth struck out in the fifth.

John Heydler—Wait till the world series.

Charley Gehringer — The Polo Grounds is a nice field to hit on.

Mickey Cochrane — I never saw Mel Harder have a better curve ball

Vernon Gomez—I wish I had that one back I threw to Medwick. At that, I think he hit a wild pitch.

Frankie Frisch—I sprained my ankle in the fifth. Hope it doesn't keep me out of action for long.

Ben Chapman—I have to like that Dean. He throws me fat balls to hit. This spring I hit three against him.

Joe Fan—The best dollar's worth of ball game I ever saw.

Pitcher For Norfolk Hurls No-Hit Game

NORFOLK, Neb, July 11—(AP)—Earl Miner turned in a seven-inning no-hit, no-run performance for Norfolk against the Canaries yesterday. He hails from Laurel, Neb. Only three batsmen reached first against him, two on walks and one on an error. Buck Ewing and Mike Semanisin, outfielders for Norfolk, saved Miner's no hit game by making sensational catches. The game was Miner's second appearance on the mound for the Elks and is believed to be the first no-hit State league game for several seasons.

Frank Wagner, Creighton, Neb., boy, who throws a submarine ball, blanked the Canaries in the second game and now has 18 scoreless innings to his credit. Last Friday he shut out the Lincoln club, 3 to 0, in his debut. He has not been scored on since joining the Elks.

Baer's Ex-Wife Must Pay Her Physician

LOS ANGELES, July 11—(INS)—Non-appearance in court of Dorothy Dunbar, pretty movie actress and divorced wife of Max Baer, the heavyweight champion, today had cost her a default judgment of $750 for medical services Dr. Montrose M. Bernstein testified that he gave the actress 58 treatments, for which she agreed to pay.

Coast Fighter Grabs Verdict Over Champ of the Light-Heavies

LOS ANGELES, July 11—(INS)—A withering final two rounds unleashed by Lee Ramage, San Diego, Cal., heavyweight, today had earned him an extremely close decision over Max Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion, in a fast 10-round battle before a crowd of 6,500. Rosenbloom's title was not at stake. The encounter was a re-match, the first bout between the two several weeks ago having been termed a draw.

Blake Renders Decision.

Rosenbloom started the fight with a rush that piled up a heavy advantage in the early rounds, but Ramage steadily wore him down and in the last frame, when Rosenbloom slipped and fell to the canvas, the Pacific coast heavyweight bore in like a tiger to win the needed points for victory.

The decision was made by George V. Blake, referee, and one of the most popular fight figures in the country.

Ramage outpunched Rosenbloom at short range and took all that the light heavyweight king had to offer without flinching. The fight was fast throughout, but there was round opened, both men appeared little hugging When the eighth exhausted, and here it was that Ramage's stamina stood him in good stead. Rosenbloom was groggy when the gong ended the battle.

August Fight Brewing.

LOS ANGELES, July 11— (INS)—Art Lasky and King Levinsky will fight in Chicago some time in August, completing an agreement made secretly between them some time ago. This was the report in Los Angeles today, following official word from Joseph Triner of the Illinois athletic commission notifying the California athletic commission it could not concur in its suspension of Levinsky.

Triner's telegram to Dr. Harry W. Martin stated that Illinois could not suspend Levinsky, as he was guilty of only a civil action offense in running out of financial obligations here.

The report that Lasky and Levinsky were matched for Chicago started some days ago and Triner's wire seems to substantiate it.

Lasky has left Los Angeles by automobile, stating his intentions were to visit friends and relations in Denver and Minneapolis. However, he had expressed a desire to box Levinsky in Chicago and had obtained a release from Promoter Lou Daro to accept one bout out of the state before completing his contract with the Olympic.

Lasky holds one decision over Levinsky and one run-out by the atter. Both parties felt that a re-match in Chicago, where both are well known, would prove a tremendous financial attraction.

POWER VS. ROBERTS TONIGHT

The leadership of the City league will be at stake Wednesday evening when Power and Roberts, tied for first at present, clash at Muny Field at 6 15. Hurling for the Powermen likely will be done by Ernie Krenk with either Lefty Dave Corbin or Choppy Rhodes winging for the Milkmen.

HARDY's HOP ON WOODSMEN.

Pounding the offerings of three Woods pitchers, Hardy Furniture won a City league game from the lowly Woodsmen Tuesday evening at Muny Field, 8-3 The Sofas blasted some 10 hits off the trio of pitchers, two of them homers by Baltzell and Jones.

Woods never threatened, scoring one run in each of the last three innings after Hardy had piled up an early 5-0 margin Ham held the Woodsmen to three hits, all singles DeJarnett, Bener, Schock and Jones each collected a pair of safe blows. Score:

Yesterday's All-Stars.

Carl Hubbell, Giants—Blanked Americans with two hits in first three innings and fanned six five in succession.

Earl Averill, Indians—Drove in three runs and scored one on triple and double.

Joe Medwick, Cardinals—Drove ball into stands with two on to give Nationals early 4-0 lead.

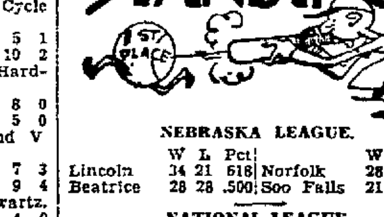

Mel Harder, Indians—Pitched one-hit ball in last five innings to protect Americans' advantage.

Arky Vaughan, Pirates—Contributed best fielding play of game, a dazzling catch of Averill's fly in the ninth.

Al Simmons, White Sox—Solver National pitching for two doubles and single, scored three runs and drove in one.

Joe Cronin, Senators—Fielding sensationally, accepting ten chances without an error.

Rural Carriers End Annual Convention

Vote To Increase Dues and To Hold Next Meeting Of Association At Omaha.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 11—(AP)—Nebraska rural letter carriers closed their thirty-second annual state convention here Tuesday after a debate over increasing dues and the selection of Omaha for the 1935 convention city. It was voted to raise the dues from $2.50 to $3.50 so each member would receive a copy of the national association's weekly paper. It previously was sold to members privavtely at $1.50 a year.

James Fuller, Lincoln retired rural carrier, left the convention hall in anger after he was denied the privilege of speaking from the floor. He returned later. It was voted to change the constitution so retired carriers in good standing may enjoy full participating privilleges.

Congressman Edgar Howard told the delegates that only through organization had any worthwhile thing been accomplished. James Farley and other postal heads, he said, should not be blamed for pay cuts which the rural carriers received.

Northwest Nebraska Suffering Serious Grasshopper Scourge

The shipment Tuesday of four cars of poisoned bran to Sioux and Dawes counties brings to 104 the number of cars which have been distributed in Nebraska in the current year's grasshpper eradication campaign, O. S. Bare, extension entomologist, said here Wednesday. Forty-seven counties have received the bait.

Although early poisoning has evidently controlled the 'hopper infestation in northeastern Nebraska where they have done serious damage in recent years, the present infestation is most destructive in northwest Nebraska, according to Bare.

Requests for poison bran have been received recently from Hitchcock, Red Willow, Lincoln, Thayer and Frontier counties.

Stocks Generally Fail To Follow Lead Of Grains; Trading Turns Dull And Close Is Irregular

Some Specialty Issues Advance

Heaviness of Alcohols Is Retarding Element; Volume Is Smal.

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—Stocks generally failed to follow the lead of soaring cereals today and trading after an early expansion of activity turned dull. Some specialties advanced substantially and several new year's tops were recorded, but the heaviness of alcohols was a retarding element. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 650,000 shares.

All grains spurted the day's allowable limits following yesterday's unusually pessimistic crop report. Wheat finished up 5, corn 4, oats 3, rye 5 and barley 5 cents a bushel. At Winnipeg, wheat climbed more than 6 cents.

Cotton also responded to unfavorable weather forecasts with an advance of around $1.80 a bale to the best levels since 1930. Silver developed strength and rubber steadied. U. S. government securities continued to register "new highs." Foreign exchanges did little.

Shares of National Lead ran up about 8 points to a new 1934 peak along with Brooklyn-Manhattan-Transit, up more than 2, and American Sugar Refining and National Dairy Products which were fractionally higher. At the same time issues of National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol and Schenley dropped around 2 points each.

U. S. Smelting, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Howe Sound, U. S. Gypsum, Glidden, Case and Beatrice Creamery firmed 1 to 2. Slight changes were shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, American can, N. Y. Central, Union Pacific, Santa Fe and many others. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas and Public Service of New Jersey eased.

Sentiment in brokerage quarters was optimistic but the attitude of various operators was one of caution.

In some circles the opinion was expressed that, while the low point of dullness probably had been passed, no great expansion of activity can be expected during the next several weeks.

Selling in the liquor stocks was attributed partly to the government's order extending the period for unlimited importations to October 31, and to the dry vote in Mississippi.

Most equities did not appear to be greatly cheered by the jump in dereals. The thought was advanced, however, that the upturn in grains was due to scarcity rather than increased demand and that higher food costs may tend to reduce public spending power in other categories.

Omaha Produce.

OMAHA, Neb., July 11—(AP)—A long-expected break in butterfat prices due to declining butter prices took place on the Omaha produce market today, with bids to the country generally lower one cent. Weakness in butter alone caused the break, as pastures are again drying up over parts of this territory and production is expected to decrease as usual at this time of year. Creamery butter was one-half cent lower. Most poultry was unchanged along with eggs.

POULTRY—No. 1 poultry delivered: Broilers, colored, under 2½ pounds, 13@14; springs over 2½ pounds 14@15c; Leghorn chickens, 2 to 3c less than common; Roosters, 5@6c; heavy hens, 9@9½c; light hens, 8@8½c; Leghorn hens, 7@7½c.

EGGS—Fresh eggs, delivered in Omaha, current receipts, loss-off, weight 55 pounds, $3@3.30 case; in used cases 25c less; graded basis, No. 1, 13@13½c dozen; No. 2, 8c dozen; cracks 8c dozen; Loose eggs, that is without cases, ½c dozen less. Premium for specials commonly known as hennery eggs, strictly fresh, large and uniform in size and color.

BUTTERFAT—No. 1 cream delivered at receiving doors in Omaha, 29c; at country stations eastern Nebraska 18c; direct shipper price, track, 19c; No. 2 ream 2c less.

BUTTER—Dairy, fresh fancy rolls, nominal, 12@13c pound; packing sock, no market. Creamery butter—extras, 1-lb. cartons, solid, 25½c; "best" butter, 24½c; ditto in 60 lb. tubs, 24c; good butter 23½c; quarters ½c more; sweet butter 2c more than salted.

MILK—Cash prices for class 1 milk, testing 3 5 butterfat, $2 a hundred pounds, delivered. This is the basic rate for milk for the bottle trade. Class 2 and class 3 the latter known as surplus milk and used for industrial purposes, are bought at discounts from the basic rate.

VEGETABLES — Trucked-in vegetables: Price to growers on curb market—beets, 15@20c; turnips 15@20c dozen bunches; cabbage, 2½@3c lb.; leaf lettuce, 3½c lb.; mushrooms, No. 1, 25@30c lb.; radishes, 7½@10c per dozen bunches; potatoes, United States No. 1, $1.25 cwt.; green onions 10c dozen bunches; green beans, 50@60c market basket; kohlrabi 30c per dozen bunches; spinach, 75@90c basket; green corn 10@20c dozen.

Grains Rise to Maximum Limits

Offerings Cease as Wheat Advances 5 Cents; Corn 4 and Oats 3.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 11—(AP)—Straining feverishly against arbitrary high price restraints, wheat and corn worked themselves to a standstill late today, reaching a point where all offerings ceased.

Maximum prices that trade rules would tolerate for today were reached and maintained owing to what was generally regarded as the most sensational government crop loss report ever issued from Washington. For a while oats, rye and barley afforded a refuge for traders who were stipped in wheat and corn, but finally every grain on the list was up to the utmost limit possible until tomorrow.

Wheat and all other grains closed strong, wheat up 5 cents corn 4 cents and oats 3 cents. July new wheat 82½c, September new 93⅝c. July corn 60¾c, September 62c. Provisions closed unchanged to 17 cents higher.

Wheat jumped instantly 5 cents a bushel today the extreme limit allowed in any single 24-hour period. The impetus came from official figures showing United States crop conditions far worse than wheat traders expected.

A wild rush to buy offerings of all grains started even before the opening gong sounded in the speculative pits. Before the echoes had ceased, wheat prices were soaring excitedly, and orders to purchase could only be executed with difficulty.

Opening all the way from 4 cents to 5 cents above yesterday's closing figures, september new 93@93⅝c, wheat later held near the initial top level. Corn duplicated the action of wheat, and at once bounded skyward the full allowable limit, 4 cents a bushel.

Trade leaders declared that in the entire history of grain dealings in the United States no parallel existed for today's speculative conditions as related to grain production. It was asserted that usually the convincing evidence of crop losses came as the culmination of a slight advance which had discounted the crop losses over a considerable period of time. Now the reverse was true, with crop disaster only just realized.

Long after the whirlwind of buying at today's opening, the speculative pits continued to be agitated by an apparently unlimited volume of purchase orders unfilled. Trade in wheat in particular was on an enormous scale whenever opportunity offered through endeavors to realize profits on holdings.

Neither in wheat nor in corn for over an hour did prices react more than a cent below the initial top level. Such downturns in every instance proved fleeting, and were followed by lightning like rallies.

For the time being, little appeared to have any market influence except the fact that the government crop report showed the nation's 1934 wheat yield was the smallest in 38 years, and that the same was virtually true as to all other grains barring but one previous year regarding corn. Friends of higher prices contended that this situation, together with huge crop losses in Europe, suggested a major advance of values and that the world outlook for wheat and other grains was definitely altered.

Corn and oats persistently borrowed strength from the violent upward trend of wheat. Provisions were firmer with grains, despite hog market downturns.

About mid-session, wheat was 4¾ to 5 cent higher as compared with yesterday's finis hand corn 2⅞ to 3 cents up.

Corn receipts at Chicago today were 81 cars against a holiday a week ago and 392 cars at this time last year.

Many corn traders were not inclined to agree with the government's corn crop figures, and were disposed to urge that corn conditions were much more favorable than indicated by Washington. Unofficial reports from the southwest, however, said grave deterioration had occurred in that section from hot weather and drouth, with temperatures above 110 degrees at various places.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—Constructive forces were again in control of the curb market today and a large number of speculative favorites extended the gains of the previous session minor fractions to a point or more in fairly active trading.

Utility issues, which lagged behind the market for a time yesterday were in better demand today and worked moderately higher. Inactive specialties again showed the largest gains, while leading oils and metals displayed a steady tone.

Fajardo Sugar advanced around 2½ points, duplicating its advance of the day before, and gains of 1 to 2 points were made by such issues as American Cyanamid "B," Dow Chemical, Humble Oil, Montgomery Ward "A," and A. O. Smith. American Gas, American Super Power, Electric Bond & Share and Niagara Hudson Power improved fractionally. Glen Alden, Lake Shore Mines Swift & Co., and Distillers Corp.-Seagrams also were higher.

Some of the better known industrial issues which scored sizeable advances Tuesday showed declines, including Sherwin Williams and Pittsburgh Plate Glass, both of which yielded a point.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—Under selective buying, the more active sections of the bond list registered further moderate gains during the early trading today.

A number of the prime investment issues were transferred at slightly improved levels, which in some cases represented peaks for several years. Treasury loans continued their slow climb into new high territory. Secondary ratings managed to work moderately higher on the average.

In the Treasury group, 1934 tops were established by the 3s, 3⅛s of 1941 and 4s, in which forenoon gains ranged from 1-32nd to 6-32nds o fa point.

Higher prices were paid for American Smelting 5s, American Telephone 5s, Santa Fe 4s, Detroit Edison 4½s, Goodyear 5s Pennslylvania general 4½s and Standard Oil of New York 4½s.

Semi-speculative issues which added a little to yesterday's gains included American & Foreign Power 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, International Telephone 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Postal Telegraph 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s and Southern Railway 4s.

German government issues weakened under fairly active selling. Japanese, Poland, Austrian and Canadian issues were up fractions. Australia 5s, Belgium 7s, Italy 7s and Uruguay 6s dropped back a bit.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, July 11—(AP)—The government's report on crop conditions, predicting the smallest wheat yield in 38 years, was a big surprise to most of the trade, which had generally believed the estimates would be virtually the same as those issued recently by private sources. Yesterday's market was not affected by the news as the report was released after the close. The government's wheat crop estimate was 484,000,000 bushels, or 16,000,000 bushels below its prediction a month ago. Private sources recently set the probable yield at 516,000,000 bushels. Many traders were amazed and skeptical when the government's figures were first announced.

Receipts of winter wheat fell off sharply yesterday and the trade construed this as meaning most of the crop had been moved to market from the southwest and central growing regions. The receipts at 11 markets were only 1,311 cars, or approximately 2,000,000 bushels compared with about 3,000 cars the preceding day. Hedging sales in the futures market and a lower price trend recently were traced to the heavy movement of the grain.

Traders also were surprised at the government's corn estimate of 2,113 000,000 bushels as against 2,334,000,000 bushels estimated by private statisticians. They had been counting on the corn crop to care for the shortages in other feed grains. Contributing to the bullish corn market yesterday were reports from Nebraska and parts of Iowa that the crop had been damaged by the severe heat.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—SUGAR—Futures were firmer today on increased covering and commission house buying, which seemed to be promoted by the steadiness of the spot market and a bullish interpretation of the government report on the sugar beet outlook. September contracts advanced from 1.74 to 1.76 and March from 1.87 to 1.89, or 2 points above the previous close, but around these levels offerings increased a little and there were partial reactions with the prices at 2 p. m. ruling about unchanged to 1 point net higher.

Futures closed steady, 1 lower to 1 higher. Sales 18,350 tons, July 1.70b; Sept. 1.75; Dec. 1.82-83; Jan. 1.83b; March 1.87b; May 1.92.

b—Bid.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—COTTON—Cotton advanced an additional dollar per bale today influenced by continued absence of rains in west Texas and strength of wheat. Active Wall street, foreign and commission house buying absorbed somewhat heavy profit taking as prices sold up to new highs for the movement and to within 1 to 4 points of the highs for the current contracts established in February. October sold up from 12.66 to 12 88 and at the beginning of the last hour was ruling around 12.81 with the general market about 15 to 20 points net higher.

Dividends

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)—Directors of the Columbia Gas & Electric corporation took no dividend action on the common stock at their meeting Tuesday. For some time dividends on the common had been paid in preference stock at the rate of 12½ cents a share quarterly. The company ordered the regular quarterly dividend of $1 50 on the 6 per cent preferred A, $1 25 on the 5 per cent convertible preference and $1 25 on the 5 per cent cumulative preferred stocks, all payable August 15 to stock of record July 20.

PITTSBURGH, July 11—(AP)—The National Steel corporation announced a regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share of common stock. E. T. Weir, chairman, said there are 2,159,922 shares of stock outstanding and that the dividend will be payable July 30 to stockholders of record on July 20.

Chicago Butter and Egg.

CHICAGO, July 11—(AP)—Butter was firm in tone today. Poultry was steady and eggs were firm.

Confidence in the position of the butter market evidently is lacking, traders said yesterday. Large interests that usually store butter at this time of year are offering their surplus stock for sale and aggregate offerings comprise an open market supply far in excess of the prevailing investment demand.

DOLLFUS ADDS TO POWERS IN DRIVE ON NAZIS

VIENNA, July 11—(AP)—Engelbert Dollfuss, Austria's fighting little chancellor, announced a huge new drive against nazis today after concentrating in his own hands all the military and police power of the nation.

The death penalty will be dealt out for the mere possession of explosives, Dollfuss announced, in an effort to stop widespread bombing outrages.

In a cabinet shakeup, Dollfuss presented the resignation of the whole group to President Wilhelm Miklas and then submitted a new list for Miklas' approval.

Dollfuss appeared determined to stamp out the whole nazi movement in Austria.

Taking a leaf from the notebook of his neighbor and friendly protector, Benito Mussolini, Dollfuss will add several cabinet portfolios to his active duties.

He will be chancellor, foreign minister, minister of defense, public security and agriculture.

A communique asserted the step was necessary for peace and order and to wipe out "the last vestiges of treasonable movement."

Almost daily bombing and other acts of terrorism have kept the government nervous for months. Austrian nazis were blamed by Dollfuss supporters. They are bitter foes because of the chancellor's unrelenting opposition to a union with Germany.

Vat of 'Fireproof' Oil Catches Fire But Is Quickly Controlled

An unusual fire, which started in a vat of specially prepared oil at the Dudek and Williams Spring works, 2128 O street, about 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, was extinguished with little damage. The blaze, feeding on oil-soaked rags, belched forth considerable smoke before firemen applied chemicals to check the flames.

Jesse Williams, one of the shop proprietors, said the vat of oil, prepared from sheep wool, is used to temper spring steel. The oil is capable of receiving red-hot metal without combustion, Williams said, but added that someone had tossed a rag into the vat.

"When I put a piece of red-hot steel in the vat," Williams explained, "the rag acted as a wick, feeding from the oil. The only damage was the loss of about 5 gallons of the oil."

The vat has a 25-gallon capacity.

Within one minute after the alarm was turned in from the Dudek Williams firm, firemen answered another call to the O street viaduct, where a cigaret had ignited a small pile of straw. The straw, firemen said, dropped from a loaded wagon.

MISSISSIPPI'S VOTERS KEEP STATE DRY, 2-1

Dixie Electors Rebuke Legislature Which Authorized Beer.

JACKSON, Miss., July 11—(AP)—Mississippi held its place among the dry states today by a vote of approximately 2 to 1.

Incomplete unofficial returns from yesterday's prohibition referendum showed defeat of the hard liquor bill by a vote of 47,275 to 25,246 in 658 of the 1,596 precincts of the state.

The wets conceded defeat. Senator W. B. Roberts of Rosedale, coauthor of the Roberts-May compromise hard liquor legalization bill, said the result was a "mandate to the governor, sheriffs and other peace officers to make a determined effort to enforce the present laws and end the present unspeakable conditions."

By voting dry the people rebuked their legislature. The last legislature authorized beer at the same time it put the liquor issue before the voters and 4 per cent beer was just as far as Mississippians chose to go in the legalization of alcoholic beverages.

Triumph For Drys.

The victory of the drys in retaining their 25-year-old state prohibition law barring hard liquors was hailed as a signal triumph for the prohibition forces of which Gov. Sennett Conner is a leader.

The people voted first on legalization of hard liquor. That was defeated. They voted secondly to permit sale of liquor in counties desiring it, predicated on the supposition that the state went wet.

All sections of the state had been heard from, the wet section along the gulf coast and up the Mississippi river and the dry section inland. As each tabulation was made the dry vote gained and additional reports only served to increase the dry margin.

Testify Chlorine Content Excessive

University Professors Witnesses In Eiche Floral Company Suit Against City.

Two University of Nebraska agricultural college faculty members took the stand for the plaintiff Wednesday morning in the $60,000 suit of the Eiche Floral company against the city of Lincoln in District court.

Dr. M. J. Blish, chemist for the experiment station, testified that he tested a sample of water from a tank filled between August 8 and August 12, 1933. Analysis showed, he said, that the water contained 17.7 parts of active chlorine for each million parts of water. The normal amount of chlorine required to sterilize water is from one-half to 2 parts per million parts of water, he testified.

J. C. Russell, professor of agronomy, gave testimony similar to that of Blish concerning water tests made. He also made a soil test, he said, which showed that soil moistened with such water revealed traces of chlorine under analysis.

It is during the period of July 15 to August 31, 1932, that the Eiche Floral company contends the city water was over-chlorinated to such a degree that 40,000 rose plants and approximately 20,000 other plants in its greenhousese were killed.

Water Consumption Sets New July Mark

Water consumption for the first 10 days of July reached a new all time high mark for the period, according to pumpage reports. There were 123,785,700 gallons used Tuesday, with a pumpage of 15,387,000 gallons set a new high for a single day during the period. The pumpage for the same days a year ago was 103,620,105 gallons. The high day a year ago was July 6, when 13,755,615 gallons were pumped.

COMPLAIN WATER DISCOLORATIONS

Manganese Gives Yellow Tinge In Clothes Washing.

Complaints that the city water is causing clothes to turn yellow when washed in it, are being made to officials of the water department. Although the trouble seems to be general, the most serious complaint seems to be south of Holdrege street to about W, and between Twenty-ninth and Thirty-third streets.

At the water office it was said that manganese in the Ashland water is responsible for the discoloration. This can be remedied, complainants were told, by increasing the amount of softener used when washing.

It is to eliminate the manganese that Paul W. Doerr, head of the water department, and City Engineer D. L. Erickson are going ahead with plans for the construction of a manganese removal and purification plant at the Ashland pumping station at a cost approximating $100,000.

Bids on the construction of the plant were received about two months ago, but rejected. Since then the new plans are being made with a view to simplifying the bidding as well as the construction. In some parts of the building, it is planned to use less expensive materials, the hope being to reduce the completed cost to a minimum.

BULLHEADS PLANTED.

HASTINGS, July 11—(AP)—Eight thousand bullheads varying from 3 to 9 inches in length were planted in the Blue river south of Hastings Monday by the Nebraska fish, game, and forestation commission. The fish were brought to Hastings from Hyannis. Next weekDad's lake will be stocked with fish taken from Marsh lake in Cherry county.

Final Corn-Hog Data In 30 Counties Given State Board Approval

A third of Nebraska counties are within their corn-hkg quqotas and their final figures have been approved, A. E. Anderson, chairman of the state corn-hog board of review, announced Wednesday. He said the board expects to complete the corn-hog reduction program within the months.

In addition to those counties which have received final approval, another third has reached their quotas or nearly so while the remainder are moving rapidly toward bringing their statements within their quotas.

YOUTH SHOULD REBUILD WORLD —REV. GREENE

War Threat Called Big Challenge at Cotner Conference Here.

"Youth must build a new world." Rev. Wayne Greene of Kearney told the Cotner Youth conference delegates at chapel period Tuesday evening. About 110 young people representing Christian churches in the southeastern part of the state are attending the meeting which will end Sunday afternoon.

"There are four reasons why we must build a new world," Rev. Greene continued, "and these are: because the home is in danger, because the world has so many starving people in it, because of the breakdown in authority and because the word still thinks in terms of war. It is almost useless to try and repair this old world, since this fourth reasons exists. Even the U. S. government, supposedly peaceful, is thinking in terms of militarism and armed combat."

An old-fashioned party was held following the chapel period. Margaret Lowe of McCook had charge of arrangements.

SOVIET O. G. P. U. POWERS CURBED

Judiciary Functions Of Secret Police Organization Abolished.

MOSCOW, July 11 —(AP)— The judiciary functions of the O. G. P. U., state secret police organization which in revolutionary times condemned thousands of people to death, have been abolished in decrees from the Kremlin which were hailed today as vastly improving the internal position of the soviet union.

Cases investigated by the O. G. P. U. hereafter will be tried in the supreme courts of the republics constituting the union.

The O. G. P. U. is merged in a newly re-established peoples, commissariat of internal affairs, of which Heinrich Iagoda, vice president and now acting head of the O. G. P. U., will be commissar.

The functions of the new commissariat are to secure revolutionary order and state safety, to protect public and socialist property, to register vital statistics, and to direct the frontier guards.

Grain Curtailment Probably Will Be Unchanged in 1935

End of Drouth Next Year And Granary Carry-over Visioned.

(Copyright 1934 by the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP)—The law of weather averages and a generous carryover from the nation's granary probably will enable the AAA to leave its acreage production unchanged for next year.

This was made clear by high agriculture department officials today after they had studied figures of the crop reporting board that showed an estimated production for 1934 lower than any in the past 30 years.

The output of all wheat was estimated by the board at 483,662,000 bushels, a cut of 18,000,000 bushels during the month of June, and approximately half of the normal production of 886,359,000 bushels.

Secretary Wallace announced Monday that the present reduction of 15 per cent under the average 1928-32 production would be continued through next year unless it develops before planting begins next month that other nations do not intend to live up to the international wheat agreement. In that event, he intimated, the United States would expand production and go into the export business on a subsidized basis.

Vision End of Drouth.

The administration in drafting next year's program holds to the belief that normal weather will prevail after two unprecedented years of drouth. They expect nature to boost wheat production above the 625,000,000-bushel level of domestic consumption. It was also believed that, if wheat prices go up, fewer farmers will cut acreage, thus increasing production.

Officials pointed out that even though this year's wheat production should fall below the estimated figure the present carryover would assure a net surplus on July 1, 1935, of approximately 115,000,000 bushels.

Drouth damage reflected in the wheat curtailment held true for other crops, corn production being estimated at 2,113,137,000 bushels or 71.8 per cent of normal; oats at 567,839,000 bushels or 40 per cent of normal; barley 125,155,000 bushels or 45.9 per cent of normal; rye 2,260,000 bushels or 40.2 per cent of normal.

June rains were inadequate over most of the corn belt and in the southwest a new drouth area has developed to include western Texas, eastern New Mexico, most of Kansas southeastern Colorado, and southeastern Nebraska.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS — By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off

There are plants that trap insects and devour them, but, strange as it seems, there is also an aquatic plant, the bladderwort, which actually fishes for food. It catches small fish as well as aquatic insects and feeds on their bodies.

The plant is characterized by little bladders filled with air to buoy up the leaves during the flowering season. At other times these bladders are filled with water, and the plant is beneath the surface.

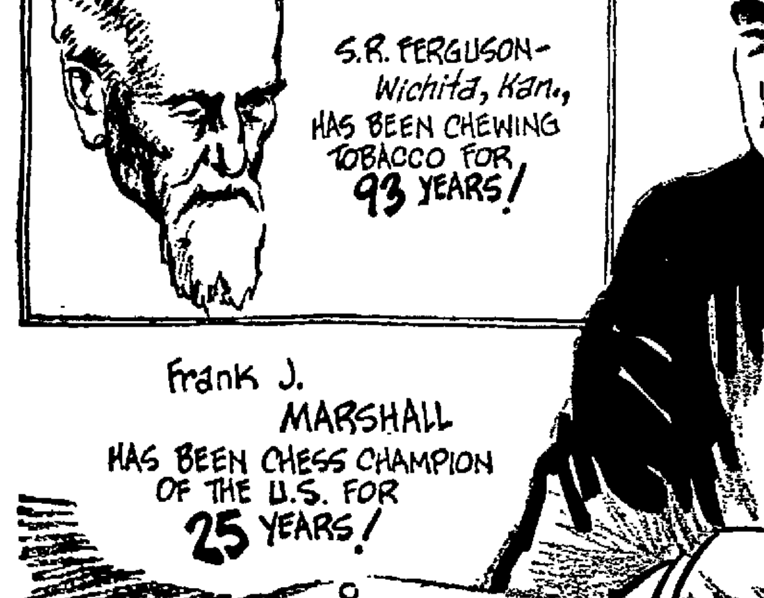

It is with these sacs that the plant does its fishing. The neck of each bladder is provided with bristles which allow bugs and small fish to enter, but which cut off escape by straightening out after the prey is trapped. Products of decay arising from the trapped fish are used as nourishment by the plant.

U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE WEATHER BUREAU

CLEAR, PARTLY CLOUDY, CLOUDY, RAIN, SNOW, REPORT MISSING.

Observations taken at 7 a. m. Air pressure reduced to sea level and line drawn through points of equal pressure. Arrows fly with the wind

THE WEATHER.

Pressure is moderately high in the northern states and in the Pacific northwest. There is a broad and shallow trough of low pressure over the Great Plains, the Missouri valley, and the upper Mississippi valley. High temperatures prevail within this depression and throughout the central portion of the country with light southerly winds and partly cloudy weather. Light scattered showers have fallen in Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa and the Lake region, and heavier showers on the Texas coast. Rising pressure over the northern mountain region gives promise of a change to northwest winds and cooler weather in Nebraska.

Force Ray Would Kill Army 100 Miles Away, Says Inventor Tesla

NEW YORK, July 11—(AP)— The discovery of a force ray that would destroy an army 100 miles away, that would make a nation's defenses impregnable, has been announced by the inventor, Dr. Nikola Tesla.

In the interests of peace, Dr. Telsa said he plans to place the ray at the disposal of the Geneva disarmament conference. He announced the invention yesterday, on the occasion of his 78th birthday.

The force ray, Dr. Telsa said, would consist of particles, driven electrically and projected in vast curtains, miles high and 100 miles long.

The speed of the particles—traveling at velocities of 50,000,000 volts —was described by him as giving the ray its destructive powers.

He said projecting plants, set up every 200 miles along a border, each shooting rays 100 miles on each side, would make the border impenetrable.

Annual Water Circus Ready at Camp Quivira

Voy Scouts at Camp Qiuvira will take part in the annual "water circus" at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Frank M. Chase, waterfront director, has charge of the affair.

Fred Remington and William Walker will take the part of Clowns, while Dick Buell, Jim Cotton and Arthur Pierson will be divers. Lyle King will be ringmaster. John Hay and Ray Crancer will be acrobats.

According to camp officials, the circus has created great interest in the swimming and life-saving courses, with record enrollments in each one.

MAE WEST FILM NAMELESS.

HOLLYWOOD Cal., July 11—(AP) —Mae West's latest picture found itself a nameless child again today. Already the butt of censors' criticism and revised accordingly, the production, originally entitled "It Ain't No Sin," lost its substitute name, "Belle of New Orleans," when protests from the southern city reached the producers. The first name was dropped after New York censors had objected to certain scenes

Arthur Mullen In Omaha Declines To Talk On Politics

OMAHA, July 11—(AP)—Silent regarding state politics, Arthur F. Mullen, former democratic national committeeman, returned to Omaha from Washington today, to remain in Nebraska during most of the campaign.

"You know I'm a private citizen now," he replied when asked if he had anything to say for publication. He announced in Washington recently that he planned to drivev Governor Bryan "out of Nebraska politics."

Seek Driver Of Auto That Hit Muriel White

Police Wednesday were looking for the driver of a car which struck Miss Muriel White, 16, at Thirteenth and O streets, about 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. Miss White said the driver of the car asked if she was hurt, and when she replied "I don't know," he drovev away.

Miss White, the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. H. A. White, 1718 South Twenty-sixth street, suffered only minor bruises and was able to walk home. She was walking north across O street on the east side of Thirteenth when the accident occurred, she stated. Before she reached the curb, the traffic lights changed and one of the starting cars struck her. Miss White was able to givve police a description of the driver and the license number of his car.

Did You See 'Red' Parker In Spy Film?

Lincoln Man's Pal Thinks So, But Sweetheart Doesn't Know.

DOTS, Dots and Dashes—A deep bass voice on the telephone wanted to know if we knew for sure whether his old pal and buddy, "Red" Parker, was in the movie "Operator 13"—Hadn't seen the picture ourselves, so we called up Mr. Parker's heart interest in the city, and she didn't know either. (???) Anyway, if Franklin Parker is in Miss Davies' current production he takes the role of President Lincoln's secretary.

HERE WE GO again about folks fortunate enough to leave the city—Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. Don Stewart and their three children, Jack, Don and Roger, will be on their way to Yellowstone park for a two weeks' stay—

And Wednesday, July 25, Mrs. C. W. Roberts and Mrs. Frank Williams, and possibly Mrs. A. M. Bunting, will leave by motor for the east. Mrs. Roberts will pick up her son, Richard, who is in school in Philadelphia, and from there will go to Cape Cod for three or four days. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bunting will spend the time in New York City.

Around about that time, or just a few days later, Mrs. Herbert Gooch and her daughter, Miss Ann Gooch, will leave for their summer home at Madeleine island, to remain during the month of August. Mr. Gooch and H. E. Gooch, jr., will go up later for a short stay.

CAN'T HELP BUT think there still may be a little interest in the Astors (Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob). Mr. Astor's grandmother, Mrs. William H. Force is staying at the Astor estate, "Chetwode" at Newport, R. I., while her grandson and his bride are on their honeymoon—Also understand that Newport society seems to be all on the side of young Mr. Astor and wishes him nothing but luck and happiness, the idea being that the poor little rich boy has had to spend most of his life entirely alone.

BUT LEAVING Newport for the home folks—There were quite a few foursomes at the Lincoln Country club for luncheon and bridge today. In one of them were Mrs. William Aitken, Mrs. Harry Grainger, Mrs. Marian Yule and Mrs. Irving Chapin.

At another table for four were Mrs. Franz Mullen, Mrs. Fred Walt, Mrs. B. H. Conlee, and Mrs. Leo Schmuttel. Mrs. M. L. Williams reserved a table for four, and the others included Mrs. Walton G. Robets, Mrs. E. H. Steckley, and Mrs. H. F. Hovland.

Mrs. Bert Reed, Mrs. Frank Reeve, Mrs. Phil Aitken and Mrs. J. M. Miles were together for luncheon and bridge, as were Mrs. E. B. Minnick, Mrs. Richard Rogers, Mrs. E. U. Guenzel and Mrs. Reg Woodruff.

In Mrs. Stanley Maly's foursome were Mrs. A. W. Thompson, Mrs. Joseph Wishart and Mrs. W. E. Straub.

A fivesome for luncheon included Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mrs. O. R. Cannon, Mrs. Bert Knapp, Mrs. E. W. Orme and Mrs. Walter Drumm. The group went to Mrs. Johnson's home for bridge.

Lunching at the Lincoln Country club today were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wadlow, their daughter Lois, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brown and their son of Cincinnati.

NEXT SATURDAY is the French Bastille day, and in celebration of the event the members of the Omaha L'Alliance Francaise are having a dinner at Happy Hollow club at 7 o'clock. And, the members of the Lincoln L'Alliance have been invited to attend the affair as no host guests. Those wishing to attend are asked to call Miss Helen Cochrane between the hour of 11 and 12 o'clock, Thursday.

THERE IS DINNER-dancing at the Lincoln Country club Saturday evening—but there are other things going on as well....

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell are presiding at an informal supper in their garden Saturday evening, to which twelve guests have been invited.

EXPECTED HOME today but arriving tomorrow will be Mrs. Joseph W. Seacrest, and Mrs. Joseph Spangler, who have been attending the national convention of Kappa Kappa Gamma at Yellowstone park.

MISS LOUISE ANDERTON BRIDE OF JACK DE VOE.

Before an altar improvised of greenery, forming a background for the white satin prie dieu, Miss Louise Anderton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Anderton of Waverly, became the bride of Jack De Voe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter De Voe of Lincoln, at a prettily arranged home ceremony Tuesday evening. The Rev. C. V. Powell of the Waverly Methodist church read the services at 8:30 o'clock. The ferns of the altar were inset with Johanna Hill roses and two nine-branched candelabra.

When the guests had gathered, Miss Alice Button of Fremont sang "I Love You Truly," with Miss Mildred Stackhaus of Sioux City accompanying her. Miss Stackhaus played the Lohengrin music as the bride entered with her father and accompanied the service with a group of nuptial numbers. Just preceding the taking of the vows, Miss Button sang "Oh Promise Me."

The bride's only attendant was little Marjory De Voe, who carried the wedding ring on a white satin pillow, from which fell a shower of white satin streamers knotted with lilies of the valley. The little girl was frocked in yellow organdy. Mr. De Voe had no attendant.

For her wedding gown, Mrs. De Voe chose a Lanvin model of white satin, its moulded lines falling into a train, and a small corsage of gardenias marked the V neck of the dress. With it, she wore a jacket of all over lace with a net background, designed with a high standing collar and Victorian sleeves, very puffed at the shoulder and caught into a long tight cuff to the wrist. The bride wore her sister's wedding veil of white silk net and lace, held with a coronet of pearls, and carried a white Bible, with streamers of white satin caught with small nosegays of the valley lilies.

Following the ceremony, the guests were invited to the dining room by Miss Ellen Hedge of Auburn. The yellow and white of the wedding motif was carried out in the appointments of the table, which had as a center piece, a crystal bowl of Johanna Hill roses on a plateau mirror. Four white tapers tied with yellow tulle completed the table. The sister of the bride, Mrs. Harold Helton of Callaway, and Mrs. Lowell De Voe of Plattsmouth, sister-in-law of Mr. De Voe, served. Mrs. Richard Bilstein of Hyannis and Miss Ruth Curyea of Lincoln assisted with the serving. Misses Muriel and Georgia Holley were in charge of the gifts and the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. De Voe have gone to Chicago on their wedding trip, and after August 1 will be at home at 1545 South Twenty-second street. The bride is traveling in aquamarine crepe, trimmed in brown linen with brown accessories.

Included in the out of town guest list were Lowell De Voe, brother of the groom, Marjory and Junior De Voe, Plattsmouth, and Harold Helton, brother-in-law of the bride, Callaway.

The bride attended Nebraska Wesleyan, where she is a member of Willard sorority. Mr. De Voe, who is practicing law in Lincoln, received his degree at Nebraska and is a member of Pi Kappa Phi and of Phi Alpha Delta.

MARION CIRCLE MEETS WITH MADELINE GIRARD.

The Marion circle met Tuesday evening with Miss Madeline Girard at her home, 1536 South Twenty-second street, for a garden picnic supper. Sixteen were present for the supper and the informal evening following. Miss Florence Wolff and Miss Marie Dugan were assisting hostesses.

EGGER-PILGER WEDDING AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

Dr. Paul Calhoun read the marriage lines Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church for Miss Merlyn Egger of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Egger of Princeton, and Claude Pilger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pilger, 821 South Fifteenth street. One hundred and fifty guests attended the service which took place before a setting of greenery and lighted tapers.

As the wedding guests assembled, Miss Grace Finch, organist, played softly. Miss Finch also played the processional as the bridal party entered. Miss Alice Pilger, sister of the bridegroom and the bride's only attendant, wore a gown of tip-toe length in pale pink mousseline de soie. Her hat was of matching material; her bouquet of pink bride's roses. Leslie Egger, brother of the bride, served as groomsman. The ushers were Arthur Carlson, John Lemly, and Wayne Egger.

For her own gown, Miss Egger chose pale blue mousseline de soie made on trim princess lines and finished by a slight train. A full-sleeved jacket of the material, and a small hat modishly veiled completed her costume. Miss Egger carried a bride's bouquet of white roses.

Immediately following the service a reception was held at the church. At the serving table, Mrs. L. L. Pechus, sister of Miss Egger, and Mrs. Ralph Cooley presided. Miss Dorothea Hayes was in charge of the guest book.

The young couple will make their home in Lincoln.

LILLIAN STRASHEIM WEDS JAMES MELSON TONIGHT.

Miss Lillian Carolyn Strasheim, daughter of Mrs. Mary Strasheim, will be married at 8, o'clock Wednesday evening to James Ralph Melson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Melson at the home of the bride's mother. Rev. J. Weber of Zion Congregational church will read the service in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

A background of palms and greenery has been arranged to be lighted by tapers during the ceremony. Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Miss Emma Kalbin will sing "O Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly,' 'accompanied by Mrs. J. Weber. Mrs. Weber will also play the processional.

For her attendant, Miss Strasheim has chosen her twin sister, Mrs. Ralph G. Carroll, as matron of honor. Mrs. Carroll will appear in a floor length gown of peach lace. Her arm bouquet will be of Talisman roses. Ralph G. Carroll will be best man.

The bride will be attired in a gown of white bridal satin. Long lace sleeves and a belt at the natural waistline will be features of the gown which is floor length. A tulle veil will be fastened at the head with orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet will be of white roses and sweet peas.

A reception at the home will follow the service. In the dining room, Mrs. J. Meng will preside assisted by Mrs. F. A. Miles, and Mrs George Horst.

Miss Helen Kaufman will be in the gift room, and Miss Delores Schreiner will have the guest book. A wedding cake will feature the reception. Mr. Melson and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

Lupe Velez Will Ask For Divorce From Weissmuller

Tempestuous Romance of Movie Couple Finally Goes on Rocks.

SUIT FILED.

LOS ANGELES, July 11—(AP)—Lupe Velez, Mexican pepperpot of the films, filed suit for divorce today, charging her husband, Johnny Weissmuller, screen actor and Olympic swimming champion, with cruelty.

The Tarzan of the movies may be inarticulate on the screen, the volubi: Lupe stated in her complaint, but in his home he "cursed, swore and threatened his wife."

Lupe's complaint, filed by Attorney Neil S. McCarty, said that Johnny "broke and destroyed furniture in the home and some of the articles struck the plaintiff and caused severe cuts and lacerations."

HOLLYWOOD, July 11—(AP)—The tempestuous romance of Lupe Velez and Johnny Weissmuller, riddled with quarrels, separations and reconciliations, appeared today to be on the skids that lead to the divorce courts.

The fiery Mexican actress, who has talked of divorce before during separations from her athletic actor-husband, said last night that she would file proceedings for a divorce in the superior court today.

Her statement was made a short time after she visited Attorney Neil S. McCarthy. She said she would charge mental cruelty. The couple separated Monday. Weissmuller going to his club.

The parting was caused by a clash of temperament, just like their previous separations, Miss Velez said.

"Just Didn't Get Along."

"We just didn't get along," she said in reviewing the romance which was sealed in a courthouse at Las Vegas, Nev., 10 months ago. "This will be best for both of us. Our temperaments are not suited to each other. We will remain very good friends. Johnny is a nice boy and I am sorry this had to happen. I guess everybody gets a divorce in Hollywood, so why not Lupe?"

Reminded of other reconciliations, Miss Velez said with emphasis that there was no possibility of such a step this time, a prediction she has made before.

Efforts to reach Weissmuller for his version of the separation were fruitless.

Condition Mrs. Mahler Reported Unchanged

No definite change was reported Wednesday in the condition of Mrs. E. H. Mahler, 1920 South Twenty-sixth street, who was critically hurt when struck by a golf ball Sunday morning at Antelope park.

Dr. Louis E. Marx, who is attending Mrs. Mahler at Lincoln General hospital, said the brain was severely injured. He reported Mrs. Mahler restless and suffering increased head pains Wednesday. This development, he said, was expected and Mrs. Mahler's general condition is no worse.

Dr. Frederick F. Teal reported no change in the woman's eye condition. "The eye is responsive to light changes," Dr. Teal stated, "but it will be several days before we can tell about the permanent vision."

About People

Mrs. Catherine McGerr will speak at the water carnival at Waverly Wednesday evening.

Miss Hazel Tubbs Red Cross public health nurse, was called to Minden by the death of her father Charles Tubbs. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning.

Buckles of Fairbury, the latter president of the Nebraska press association, were at the capitol Wednesday, en-route home from a week's vacation outing at Mary's lake, in northern Minnesota, with a party of 20 newspaper people from Nebraska and neighboring states. Among those who took part in the outing were Ray Hammond of Fremont, Zela Loomis of Columbus, Hugh Brown and Dr. O. D. Johnson of Kearney.

The members of the Lincoln Police auxiliary were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dick Bennett, 3319 Orchard street. Thirty-seven members were present, and after a short business meeting, the time was devoted to playing bingo. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

TO ORGANIZE ROAD GROUP.

Organization of the Lancaster county unit of the Nebraska Good Roads association will be completed at a meeting Thursday noon at the chamber of commerce. W. B. Duiling is temporary chairman.

DOUGLAS COUNTY COMES TO TIME

Agrees To Spend For Relief Amount Demanded By Haynes.

OMAHA, July 11— (AP) —The Douglas county FERA committee today reached an agreement with Rowland Haynes, federal relief administrator, which assures expenditure of $2,007,600 for relief purposes in the county during the coming year.

Chairman Frank Riha assured Haynes the county will spend $592,100, while the federal govrnment will spend $4 for every one put up by the county.

During a previous conference at Lncoln Haynes demanded that the county provide the equivalent of a 1.93 mill levy, which would have raised approximately $425,000.

Traction Company Valuation Argued

City Board of Equalization Takes F. A. Good Complaint Under Advisement.

The city council sitting as a board of equalization Wednesday took under advisement the complaint of F. A. Good against the personal tax valuation of the Lincoln Traction Co. Another hearing probably will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock when, it is expected expert testimony will be given regarding the valuation of the utility's rolling stock.

The valuation returned by the utility for 1934 taxation purposes was $50,700, which is "absurd," Mr. Good said. He added that in the personal property returns of other corporations, "there are also many other absurdities, by covering up." He did not explain what he meant by "covering up."

Mr. Good, who said he was appearing as a representative of the state Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues, submitted figures purporting to show that the Traction Co. valuation is 11½ times lower than for the tax year beginning April 1, 1933, and more than 22 per cent less on the basis of the company's earnings.

He insisted that the valuation should include the value of the franchise, and that the average value of $1,000 each fixed for the 30 busses now in service is far too low. He said, however, that he would be willing to accept the valuation of $100,000 fixed a year ago, although "I believe it should be three times the amount returned for the present year."

The traction company was represented by Attorney J. O. Sheldahl of Flansburg, Lee and Sheldahl. He objected to an increase, declaring that the valuation returned by the company is fair, and that Mr. Good had not shown otherwise. "The burden is on Mr. Good to prove that the amount is too low," he declared, offering to submit the personal property schedule to the board for a "complete and thorough investigation."

According to Mr. Sheldahl the utility since 1927 has junked 56 street cars for which "an average of only $87.95 was received. They cost when new from $2,200 to $5,600 each."

When Mr. Good insisted that the company paid $208 000 for its fleet of busses in 1926, Sheldahl declared that they have depreciated so much that not more than $300 can be obtained for them now on a trade-in for new equipment. They have travelled more than 300,000 miles each for a total mileage of more than 7,000,000, he said.

Asserts W. C. T. U. Is To Continue Fight

Rev. Iva M. Innis Tells Omaha People Organization Is Not Discouraged.

OMAHA, July 11—(AP)—Addressing a Douglas county W. C. T. U. meeting here today, Rev. Iva M. Innis of Lincoln said the organization is not discouraged despite the fact that "the rate at which prohibition repeal is progressing in the United States is appalling."

"We will not give up the fight until the liquor traffic stops," she added. "Auto accidents in Chicago since the repeal of the dry laws, have increased 300 per cent."

Rev. Mrs. Innis said accidents in Nebraska had also increased since repeal of the 18th amendment.

"If the people of Nebraska want repeal and want to experiment on some method of control, I would suggest keeping the Nebraska law for two more years to study the 23 different methods of control used by the 23 wet states," she said.

Award Contracts For Six Cars of Lumber

Contracts for furnishing six carloads of treated lumber, costing over $7,000 altogether, to be used in highway and bridge construction in different parts of the state, were awarded Wednesday to the low bidders by State Purchasing Agent Farris.

The Carter-Waters Co., Omaha, got four carloads, as here with: Two cars for delivery at Neligh, $2,482; one at Norfolk, $1,109; one at Allen, $1,065.

One carload for Pierce went to the Wheeler Lumber Co., Des Moines, for $1,426.

A second carload to be shipped to the same point will be supplied by the Nebraska Bridge Lumber & Supply Co., Omaha, at $975.

The purchasing agent also awarded the contract for furnishing 1,248 cubic yards of gravel and dumping it on two sections of highway east and west of Oxford to Nichols & Hadden, producers of that vicinity, at $1.73.

Lancaster Farmers Seek Classification

Must Dispose Of Some Cattle and Are Anxious To Make Sales To Government.

Lancaster county Wednesday become the twenty-first to request primary drouth classification, to be eligible for emergency cattle purchases. The action followed a meeting of the county drouth committee composed of J. F. Purbaugh, county agent, W. O. Buel, Hickman and Earl Downing, Davey.

Purbaugh reported there has been an increasing demand for the plan from farmers in the county. Feed conditions force them to cut down their herds and they can get more for their stock from the government than on the market, since they save shipment costs, he explained.

ANTELOPE LINKS CHANGE STUDIED

Many Golfers Encourage Oberlies Cut Course, Lessen Danger.

L. C. Oberlies, head of the park department, is being encouraged to reduce the Antelope course from 18 to 9 holes, he declared Wednesday. Mr. Oberlies believes that a change should be made to eliminate the danger of accidents

Several players on the municipal courses have called at Mr. Oberlie's office in the city hall to study the proposal of J. L. Roscow for a 9-hole course. Almost without exception his callers have approved this plan or one similar to it, submitted to the head of the department about a week ago by Frank Mulqueeney, municipal pro.

Golfers wishing to look at the proposed new courses can see them at any time at Mr. Oberlies' office.

A yokel is anybody who tips too much to show that he isn't a yokel.
